WARREN COUNTY

Army Sgt. Leroy E. Fladry, son of Mr. LeRoy L. Fladry, 751 Follet Run rd., has been killed in action in Vietnam, according to a release by the Defense Department yesterday. Further details were not known.

THE NATION

Secretary of Defense Robert McNamara formally received and accepted an offer to become president of the World Bank. However, President Johnson hopes to keep the Secretary in his present job at least until after the next defense budget is presented to Congress early next year. The President has asked McNamara to recommend a successor. He suggested four men, but it is not known who was on the list.

By a vote of 85 to 2, the Senate approved increased postal rates, effective early in January, and increased pay for two million federal employees, retroactive to Oct. 1. The bill now goes to a conference committee for reconciliation with a slightly different House version passed last month.

Ostensibly because they are preoccupied with contract negotiations at General Motors, the leadership of the United Automobile Workers union had decided to boycott next month's A.F.L.-C.I.O. convention. Officers of the two groups have been openly feuding, however, with Walter P. Reuther of the U.A.W. calling for a more radical labor orientation.

THE WORLD

Roy Jenkins became Britain's Chancellor of the Exchequer in a major shift of power within the Labor government and a move toward new policies. He replaced James Callaghan, whose three-year struggle to maintain the value of the pound ended in the recent devaluation. Callaghan took Jenkins' former post as Home Secretary.

The leaders of France's Jewish community accused President de Gaulle of anti-Semitism. The Grand Rabbi of France, Jacob Kaplan, declared that the President's denunciation of Israel in his news conference may have opened the door to a "campaign of discrimination."

North Vietnam's army newspaper predicted that "savagery" fighting would engulf American troops in the next few months. The articles, furnished in translation by United States officials, called the recent battle of Dak To one of the "opening victories" in a North Vietnamese offensive. The newspaper, Quan Doi Nhan Dan, said that five American battalions had been "wiped out or heavily decimated" in the battle.

SPORTS

Warren's Dan O'Neil, was named to the Second All-State Football Team by the Associated Press yesterday. The Dragons' high-scoring senior halfback had been a first team selection on the UPI ballot announced last week. Erie East's Denny Satschur was a third team selection as quarterback and three other area gridirers received honorable mentions. Page 10.

Rule changes have been announced for the Stetline-Eriez Speedways for next season, including a reduction in the required wheelbase for Late Model cars. Page 11.

The Baltimore Orioles traded veteran shortstop Luis Aparicio to the Chicago White Sox yesterday in a deal that involved six players. Cleveland sent Chuck Hinton to the California Angels for Jose Cardenal, a swap of two right-handed hitting outfielders. Page 11.

Leroy Kelly of the Cleveland Browns became the seventh player in NFL history to rush for over 1,000 yards more than once last Sunday and leads the league in that department by 301 yards over runner-up Johnny Roland of the St. Louis Cardinals. Baltimore's John Unitas is the leading passer, according to statistics released yesterday. Page 10.

WHAT IS IT? THE ALLEGHENY RESERVOIR!

No, it isn't snow—it's infrared film which turns normal summer foliage white. But that's the way it will look since the recent precipitation. What is it? Administration Presents Compromise to Lower Deficit

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Johnson administration presented to Congress yesterday a tax and spending plan it said could lower this year's budget deficit to $13.7 billion and insure confidence in the dollar, if enacted quickly.

Secretary of the Treasury Henry H. Fowler said approval of the plan—or one like it—is an "inescapable responsibility of the Congress" in the wake of British devaluation and last week's run on gold.

"Delay can be as damaging as defeat," he said in testimony before the House Ways and Means Committee.

Fowler renewed the administration's plea for the 10 per cent surcharge on income taxes and stuck to the original effective dates—Oct. 1 for individuals and July 1 for corporations, both 1967.

As part of the same package, however, he proposed legislative form budget cuts of $4.1 billion during the current fiscal year which ends next June 30. This would be accomplished by a formula reducing the authority of government agencies to commit funds.

Fowler said it would not be feasible to collect through withholding from paychecks any of the additional individual taxes which would be due through December under the plan.

Collection would be made, he said, when taxpayers file their 1967 income tax returns early next year. He said that for two-thirds of the taxpayers the surcharge would be reflected in smaller refunds rather than any additional payments.

Even before the hearing opened, the odds for adoption of a tax bill this year dropped virtually to zero when committee Chairman Wilbur D. Mills, D. Ark., said there just isn't enough time left to get a bill through the House.

One Democratic supporter of increased taxes who declined to be quoted by name said after Fowler's testimony that the administration is setting up the tax-spending package for approval next year.

There was no immediate reaction from Mills.

Senate Votes Increase In Postal Rates Next Year

WASHINGTON—The Senate voted today to increase postal rates, effective in early January after the Christmas mail rush season.

As part of the same package, some two million federal employees would receive pay boosts, retroactive to Oct. 1, that eventually would cost $2.7 billion a year.

The cost of ordinary letters and postcards would rise a penny and of airmail by two cents. There would be increases in other classes of mail, too.

The combined pay-and-postal bill cleared the Senate by a vote of 85 to 2, after two days of largely desultory debate. Voting against were Strom Thurmond of South Carolina and John J. Williams of Delaware, both Republicans.

Then, without debate, the Senate voted comparable pay increases for the 3.4 million members of the Armed Forces. The increases, retroactive to Oct. 1, would cost about $600 million this fiscal year and, after two additional raises, would cost about $2.7 billion a year.

Bills similar to both of these passed the house last month. The relatively minor differences will be worked out in conferences within the next week.

The Federal pay increases would be in three states—the first retroactive to Oct. 1, a second effective next July 1, and a third effective a year later. Senate economy forces sought to freeze pay increases for higher-paid Federal employees, those making $10,000 and over, until the Federal budget is balanced. This was rejected by a vote of 83 to 5.

The postal rate increases would become effective Jan. 8. The bulk of the more than $900 million in new postal revenue would come from first class mailers.

Ordinary letters would cost six cents, instead of the present five cents. The cost of mailing a postcard would rise from four cents to five cents.

In addition, airmail would rise from 8 cents an ounce to 10 cents, and airmail postcards from 6 to 8 cents.

Rates for second class mailers—largely magazines and newspapers—would be increased to produce about $32.6 million more a year.

McNamara Resigns Post To Head World Bank

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara announced last night he is resigning to become president of the World Bank. President Johnson followed through with a statement that major defense policies are clearly defined and "the course of our participation in the war in Vietnam is firmly set."

The two men issued statements shortly after the executive directors of the bank voted unanimously to offer McNamara the presidency of the 107-nation lending agency.

The formal offer is expected to come as soon as the necessary other steps are completed. Johnson, said of McNamara "I shall miss him greatly as a member of my cabinet, as one of my closest colleagues and as my valued friend."

The President thus obviously moved quickly to counter speculation that McNamara's departure might lead to a harder war line in Vietnam.

The Chief Executive said that while no precise date has been fixed for McNamara's departure, "I have asked him to remain at least long enough into next year to complete the work on the military program and financial budget for fiscal year 1969."

That budget will be submitted to Congress in January. Johnson said McNamara had assured him, even while saying he was interested in the World Bank post, that he was willing to remain as secretary of defense "so long as the President considered it to be necessary."

However, Johnson also said the defense chief expressed the view to him sometime ago that he believes the military service "would benefit from the appointment of a fresh person."

The President said that "I could not justly ask Secretary McNamara indefinitely to continue to bear the enormous burdens of his position nor could I, in justice to him and to this nation's obligations to the World Bank, refrain from recommending that he be selected as president of the bank."

Johnson predicted that "it will be possible for Secretary McNamara's successor to continue his able and effective administration of the defense establishment and our program without loss of momentum or effectiveness."

Johnson was lavish in his praise of McNamara saying that his service as a cabinet member and counselor "has been unexcelled."

Fierce Fighting Breaks Out In South Vietnam

By EDWIN Q. WHITE
Associated Press Writer
SAIGON (AP) — Fierce new fighting erupted Wednesday in the battle-ravaged Dak To sector of South Vietnam's central highlands. South Vietnamese paratroopers reported killing 130 North Vietnamese army regulars in a six-hour battle. A Vietnamese spokesman said the paratroopers, the same crack units that wrested Hill 1416 from the North Vietnamese earlier this month, took only light casualties in the encounter.

The spokesman said a 400-man paratrooper battalion engaged the North Vietnamese early Wednesday afternoon four miles northeast of Dak To, the sector of three weeks of heavy fighting earlier this month. After six hours, the spokesman said, the North Vietnamese broke off the contact, leaving 130 bodies on the battlefield. The Dak To sector had been relatively quiet since last Thursday when U.S. infantrymen captured the heights of Hill 875.

In earlier fighting around Bo Duc, allied aircraft showered bullets and bombs on attackers who have overrun part of a government district headquarters.

South Vietnamese spokesmen said the assault on Bo Duc was carried out by members of the 272nd Viet Cong Regiment, which allied officers believed had been decimated early this month in a week of fighting around the Loc Ninh district headquarters, 10 miles southwest of Bo Duc.

The regiment was reported to have lost 918 killed at Loc Ninh and some officers said at the time it would be along while before the enemy unit, including large numbers of North Vietnamese, could fight again.

Strafed and bombed by U.S. and South Vietnamese jets, the Viet Cong retreated at dawn from Bo Duc after losing 65 killed in 5½ hours of fighting. But sources speculated that the Communists could be starting an action similar to the Loc Ninh battles, where they apparently aimed to divert allied forces from vital rural pacification programs.

Fifteen of the 200 South Vietnamese defenders at Bo Duc were killed and 19 were wounded in the only major action reported during a day of scattered encounters on the ground.

In the air war over North Vietnam, U.S. planes flew 111 missions in marginal weather Tuesday. Navy bombers, attacking nearer the heart of Hanoi, phoned than they have in some days, flew through heavy flak to hit a rail yard and a rail-highway bridge.

Pilots reported seeing explosions and broken tracks at the rallyard 1.7 miles from the center of the port and heavy damage at the bridge a mile from the downtown area. Both targets had been struck before. South Vietnamese officers said they did not know the size of the attacking force at Bo Duc, which is 80 miles north of Saigon and three miles from the Cambodian frontier.

Hanoi Predicts Savage Fighting

(c) N.Y. Times News Service
SAIGON — The Hanoi army newspaper predicted yesterday that "savagery" fighting would engulf American and North Vietnamese troops in the next few months.

The newspaper said that the recent battle of Dak To in the central highlands was one of the "opening victories" on an offensive by the North Vietnamese. "The victory of the Communist forces in this campaign is assured," said the newspaper, Quan Doi Nhan Dan.

In a series of articles, the newspaper said that the North Vietnamese had "wiped out or heavily decimated" five American battalions at Dak To. It added that Gen. William C. Westmoreland, Commander of United States Forces in Vietnam, "who is already defeated in the field of battle, is also in the process of losing the battle against American public opinion."

The articles confirmed, at least in part, the thesis of several military officials here that a prime aim of the North Vietnamese in Dak To was to inflict as many American casualties as possible to create even further divisions in U.S. public opinion over the war. This aim, the officials say, may spur the North Vietnamese to continue sharp fighting in the next few months.

The battle in Dak To took about

290 American lives over a three week period. The claimed enemy death toll is more than 1,600. Some military officials feel that the enemy may have pulled back to the Cambodian border to regroup and possibly plan new assaults in the jungle-covered hills around Dak To, 280 miles north of Saigon.

The army newspaper predicted accelerated fighting in the "dry season campaign," which runs from late fall through spring in the south. It added that the fighting would be "very savage."

Taking note of Westmoreland's recent two week visit to Washington, D.C., the newspaper commented that the General's optimistic statements about the war were an effort to strengthen the political position of (President) Johnson. It particularly ridiculed the General for what the newspaper said was his stress on "questions of secondary importance" such as supplies, airfield construction and farm purchases.

Westmoreland is "silent as an oyster," the army newspaper said, about such questions as "the conduct of the war, the fate of the much publicized search and destroy operations, the reason American casualties are mounting and why reinforcements are needed."

Roy Jenkins Is Named Chancellor of Exchequer

(c) N.Y. Times News Service
LONDON — In a major shift of power within the Labor government and a move toward new policies, Roy Jenkins yesterday became Britain's Chancellor of the Exchequer.

He replaced James Callaghan, whose three-year struggle to maintain the value of the pound ended in devaluation 11 days ago. Callaghan resigned and shifted to Jenkins' former post as Home Secretary, in charge of police and other internal affairs.

Jenkins, 47 years old, has long been known to favor a more expansionist economic policy, with greater incentives for individual enterprise. He urged devaluation in the crisis of July, 1966, when the cabinet chose instead to squeeze the economy into a long period of deflation.

His advance to what is now the second most important office in government means a significant gain for the young intellectual moderates in the Labor Party — those less wedded to traditional socialism.

Prime Minister Wilson, in making the appointment, put at his right hand a man whom many have seen as his eventual rival for the Labor leadership. For this reason many observers had questioned Jenkins' chances for the key economic job.

The Prime Minister's decision reflects the urgent need for restoring national and party morale in the post-devaluation days. Commentators quickly praised him tonight for choosing a chancellor who is not a personal or political friend.

Callaghan and Jenkins exchanged their seals of office yesterday afternoon at a meeting of Queen Elizabeth II with her Privy Council. Without further formality they immediately took over their new jobs.

For Callaghan the end of the chancellorship was a personal sorrow. He resigned, as he told Wilson in a "Dear Harold" letter because he had had to go back on "pledges" against devaluation that he had given many foreign countries.

In his new role Jenkins will almost certainly press for sharper cuts in military spending than the government has yet scheduled.

Greece and Turkey Reported To Have Reached Agreement

ATHENS, Greece (AP) — The Atlantic Alliance's trouble shooter in the Cyprus crisis said last night: "Our efforts for peace met with success." Diplomatic sources said Greece and Turkey were preparing to announce jointly the end of their current conflicts over the long-troubled eastern Mediterranean island.

Manlio Brosio, secretary-general of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization made the announcement to reporters after a session at the Greek Foreign Ministry. He added: "I am confident we are going to keep the peace."

As if to underscore his confidence, Brosio said he planned to return to his headquarters in Brussels — probably today. Greece and Turkey are NATO allies and a conflict between them would seriously damage the alliance.

Diplomatic quarters said the agreement was a triumph for the work of Brosio and Cyprus R. Vance, President Johnson's special envoy. While Brosio shuttled between Ankara and Athens yesterday, Vance met in Cyprus with President Makarios, the Greek Cypriot leader, apparently to sell him on the settlement.

Greek Foreign Minister Panagiotis Pipinelis worked through the evening hours meeting with Brosio and other authorities on the finishing touches of the agreement. U.S. Ambassador Phillip Talbot joined Brosio in final talks with Pipinelis.

Turkish Ambassador Turn Taluy also met with Pipinelis but declined any comment. The Greek government, which has been pessimistic, issued a terse communique that appeared to be a scene-setter for the final announcement of an agreement.

"Diplomatic contacts to settle the crisis have considerably advanced during the last few hours and allowed the hope that a final solution will be reached soon," the communique said.

Diplomatic sources said the agreement would be announced simultaneously in Athens and Ankara.

The agreement is generally believed to call for Turkey to immediately drop its warlike posture and for Greece to withdraw some 8,000 to 12,000 Greek soldiers from Cyprus. This is a clandestine force far above the 950 allowed by the Zurich Treaty of 1959 setting up the eastern Mediterranean island of Cyprus as an inde-

British Troops Leave Aden

(c) N.Y. Times News Service
ADEN—The last British troops left Aden and the last Egyptian troops left Yemen yesterday.

The British flew out by helicopter to the carrier Albion at 3 p.m. just as Sana Radio was announcing, unexpectedly, that the rear guard of the Egyptian army in Yemen had embarked from Hodeida. The Egyptians had not been expected to complete their withdrawal until Dec. 15.

Qahtan Al Shaabi, who is expected to be proclaimed president of the new republic of South Yemen, as Aden has been renamed, was expected to arrive today for a triumphal entry into his country.

The republican governments of Yemen and South Yemen have declared they will eventually unite into a single country.

Aden's struggle against the British, who came here 128 years ago, began in earnest in December, 1963. It was a war of hand grenades in the town and ambushes upcountry, conducted by two groups, the National Liberation Front (N.L.F.) and the Federation for the Liberation of Occupied South Yemen (F.L.O.S.Y.).

The Egyptians came to Yemen five years ago to back up the republican revolution against the ruling Imam, Mohamed Al Badr. The republic is still struggling against royalist tribesmen gathered, according to the royalist radio, in great force in the mountains around the capital. The Egyptians began to withdraw after their defeat by Israel in June.

Gen. Hassan Al Amri, commander in chief of the Yemeni Republican Army, bade the departing Egyptians farewell.

Radio Sana, meanwhile, said the republican army would "finish off the remnants of the Royalists" if they did not immediately abandon their arms and declare their loyalty to the republic. It also announced a public holiday today to celebrate the independence of South Yemen.

The last British troops to leave Aden were 120 men of the 42nd Battalion, Royal Marine Commandos, and the last officer was Lt. Col. Timothy D. "Dad" Morgan of Cardiganshire in Wales.

Morgan shook hands with the South Arabian Army liaison officer, Ahmed Saleh, and departed. That was all there was to the British Army final farewell to Aden.

Campus Play Opens Tonight

"The Male Animal" is on the prowl tonight. The Warren Campus Drama Club announces the grand opening of the hilarious comedy by James Thurber at 8:30 p.m. today at the Market Street School.

The play will be repeated tomorrow at the same time and tickets may be purchased at United News, the B & B Smoke Shop or at the door.

Action in the play centers around Tom Turner, played by Fred Blackman and his wife, Ellen, portrayed by Libby Caterina.

Tom Turner is an instructor at a mid-western university who, because of his ideals, becomes involved in a campus dispute between students and the college board of trustees. Meanwhile his wife Ellen becomes involved with a former boy friend who has returned to town as a celebrated football hero.

The action of these two forces, coupled with other characters on the campus, is sure to provide a very interesting and enjoyable evening's entertainment.

Cyprus

pendent republic.

It was not immediately made clear if both the legitimate Greek force of 950 and the 650 Turkish soldiers would be removed and the policing of the split island left entirely to the 4,500-man United Nations force on the scene.

Makarios opposed the withdrawal of Greek troops unless all the Turkish troops were recalled. But Turkey insisted its garrison on Cyprus is needed to protect the Turkish Cypriot minority.

Whether Vance won over Makarios was not known, but it appeared Greece and Turkey were bent on going ahead with the agreement to head off war between these two NATO allies.

As evidence of the easing of tension, the Greek government called off the combat alert of its armed forces. They were placed instead on a state of readiness.

Other reported concessions by Greece would be the removal of Gen. George Grivas, commander of the Greek national guard in Cyprus, and indemnification for two Turkish villages attacked by the Greeks two weeks ago in which 25 Turks and two Greeks were killed.

This was the incident that ignited the long-smoldering Turkish anger, expressed once before in the crisis of late 1963 and 1964.

At that time, attacks on Turkish Cypriot villages by Greek Cypriots touched off the first crisis.

Accepts Harsh Conditions To Obtain Standby Credit

(c) N.Y. Times News Service
PARIS — Britain agreed today to harsh conditions to obtain a $1.4 billion standby credit for defense of the pound at its devalued rate of $2.40.

The credits are being granted by the International Monetary Fund, an international pool of gold and currencies used to help countries in precarious financial situations.

Not since France needed international help in 1957 has a major industrial country been forced to give up so much sovereignty in economic affairs.

The loan, nearly two weeks in the preparatory stages, was given final approval yesterday by the creditor countries, members of the so-called group of 10 leading industrial countries. Britain agreed to the conditions in a letter of intent deposited with the I.M.F. and signed by former Chancellor of the Exchequer James Callaghan.

The creditor countries discussed the conditions with Britain today at a day-long meeting punctuated by the dramatic announcement from London that Callaghan had resigned.

Britain promised to do the following:

—Slash a budget deficit that was to reach 1.9 billion pounds ($4.56 billion) in the next financial year to 1 billion pounds ($2.4 billion). This will require a severe increase in taxation or severe spending cuts or both.

—Prevent the money supply in Britain from rising faster next year than this year.

—Put through legislation earlier than she wants to get rid of a 3 per cent export subsidy. The British had previously said they would abolish it on April 1. This did not satisfy some creditors, particularly France. A British source said his government agreed to introduce the legislation before Christmas.

Westmoreland said he expected to remain in his post as commander of U.S. forces in Vietnam.

He denied a report in The New York Times that he had recommended Lt. Gen. Lewis W. Walt, former Marine commander in Vietnam, to succeed Gen. Wallace M. Greene as Marine Corps commandant Dec. 31.

Bill Includes Grant for WSH

The State Senate Tuesday passed a bill, 1213, the usual General State Authority bill, introduced Oct. 23 and referred to the Committee on State Government of which Senator Richard C. Frame is chairman.

Frame said yesterday the bill was amended in content to include one additional project, a Specialized Therapeutic Activity facility at Warren State Hospital at a cost of $317,125.

The Senator noted the appropriation was for construction of offices, social and rehabilitation rooms in a wing to be added to the proposed Inter-Faith Center at WSH for which $294,000 has been raised by public subscription in the counties served by the mental institution.

The bill is now before the House, Frame advised.

The chapels have been designed to accommodate patients and families of Protestant, Roman Catholic and Jewish faiths and under the constitution the state could not appropriate funds for the religious portions of the Inter-Faith Center.

Jury Begins Deliberations On Armed Robbery Case

MAYVILLE, N.Y.—Deliberations are expected to get underway in county court today by an eight man, four woman jury in the case of a 31-year-old Jamestown man charged with armed robbery, Leo W. Warner, 427 Allen st., is accused in connection with the holdup of the Allen Liquor store, 421 Foote ave., on the night of Aug. 11 of this year.

Warner was indicted on the armed robbery charge along with Lewis J. Guifreda, 30, 58 Water st., Jamestown. Guifreda's case will be heard separately.

Co-owner of the liquor store, Lewis Tuccio, took the stand yesterday at the request of assistant district attorney W. Park Catchpole, of Jamestown. Tuccio identified Warner as the holdup man who fled from his store on Aug. 11 with eight to 10 bottles of liquor. Tuccio said he told the armed gunman he had no money, whereupon the gunman shot once into the floor and then fled the store with the bottles of liquor.

Mrs. Roberta Shields, 24, 511 America Pl., Jamestown, was the other principle prosecution witness in yesterday's court action. Mrs. Shields, who formerly lived at 427 Allen st., told the court that on the night of the holdup, she overheard Warner and another person talking about getting some money.

She further testified she saw Warner put a gun in his trousers, and later that night saw him return to the Allen st. address with several bottles of liquor. Warner told her, she added, that he had just shot a hole in a floor.

Warner and Guifreda, their heads shaven, were arrested later on Rt. 17 in Levant, by the state police with the Jamestown police cooperating. Jamestown police had received a tip earlier from young boys in the neighborhood, who saw two men run from the liquor store. At the time of their arrest, a .22 caliber pistol was also seized. Warner was also indicted on a charge of illegal possession of a weapon.

The 31-year-old Allen st. man faces another charge of armed robbery on Aug. 9 at Stanford's Grocery at 905 Prendergast ave. The gunman escaped with $113 after forcing owner Leslie J. Stanford to lie on the floor. No date has been set for a trial on the second charge.

Prosecution is expected to complete its case today as is the defense. Jamestown attorney Jeffrey Weise was assigned by the court to defend Warner. The case is being arbitrated by county judge Edwin G. O'Connor.

UAW to Boycott AFL-CIO Meet

(c) N.Y. Times News Service
WASHINGTON — The leadership of the United Automobile Workers union has decided to boycott next month's convention of the American Federation of Labor-Congress of Industrial Organizations.

Authoritative sources said yesterday that the union's top officers, who have been feuding with the labor federation, decided yesterday not to send a delegation to the session because they were occupied with contract negotiations at the General Motors Corporation.

The U.A.W.'s policy-making executive board is expected to ratify the leadership decision today in Detroit, adding to the union's growing estrangement with the A.F.L.-C.I.O.

Walter P. Reuther, U.A.W. president, as well as other auto union leaders have accused the A.F.L.-C.I.O. of being "the complacent custodian of the status quo." They had hoped to wage a convention battle for their own "reform" program, and had threatened to pull out of the Federation unless changes were made.

The sources, however, said that the union leaders decided to skip the convention because Reuther and some top officers would be engaged in intensive contract talks during the week-long session, which begins Dec. 7 in Miami Beach.

Mayors Are Eligible for Pay Increase

(TMO Harrisburg Bureau)
HARRISBURG — Mayors of most of Warren County's six boroughs should be in for an increase in salary, under provisions of legislation now signed into law by the Governor.

Under the new schedule, borough mayoralty salary maximums are broken down into these two basic categories:

(1)—For those boroughs of one thousand population, or fraction thereof, mayors are now eligible to receive a maximum salary of $300 a year.

(2)—In boroughs with a population in excess of one thousand, the salary of the mayor may be upped to (but shall not exceed) $200 a year per thousand population or fraction thereof. In other words, the mayor of a borough of five thousand population, for example, now may receive a maximum annual salary of $1,000, etc.

Previously, mayors of boroughs were eligible to receive salary at the maximum rate of $100 per thousand population up to 10,000 population while from 10,000 to 20,000 population the maximum salary permitted was $200 a year, with $3000 the maximum for those boroughs with population in excess of 20,000.)

A Nation of Wasters

There can be no questioning the fact that we are a nation of wasters. In some respects we consider downright waste to be the hallmark of our national affluence. And in the thousands upon thousands of tons of solid waste we dispose of daily we fail to see any threat to maintaining this affluence far into the future.

Nor do we intelligently decipher the handwriting on the wall as we witness other wasteful extravagances, examples of which are all about us.

Our intelligence should tell us that a time will come when technologists will no longer be able to fill in the gaps created by this tremendous wasting, and the day of reckoning will be at hand. Perhaps that day is already here.

Depletion and wasting of our natural resources has created Appalachia and all of the social suffering and upheaval that has followed. Other sections of the nation where the natural resources are being drained at an alarming rate are not much better off. Others will soon follow.

For the land not only produces the necessities of life we normally expect from it, but a host of other materials that are needed to keep our gigantic industrial machine grinding out the products we waste without compunction.

But the land is not our only problem. Add to this the tremendous sources of waste that pollute our air and water and the waste brought about by the pollution of our air and water. The sum of it all is fantastic, as is the amount of money we will have to spend to correct the conditions that exist.

Yet these may not be the areas of our greatest waste when we do reach the time of final tabulation. We may find that what we have "wasted" in our cities is of more consequence to our national survival than all of our other excesses lumped into a whole.

For the way we have allowed the centers of our great cities to decay, deteriorate, and rot is the most flagrant form of waste. Buildings that were once sound and desirable for either business or residence, through lack of repair and upkeep, downgraded the community where they were located. Soon the cancerous germ of carelessness their condition incubated spread until dilapidated buildings covered vast areas of the inner-city.

These are the ghettos of today. The ghettos where ignorance and poverty have already sown the seeds of outright revolution and rioting and plundering is getting to be an everyday occurrence. It is here that we have not only wasted the value of material things (the buildings), but have brought about the waste of the human potential these millions of ghettos residents possess.

Carlisle, Pa., is outstanding proof that old buildings need not be dilapidated buildings. Some of the old buildings in this well-kept city house respected residents and profitable businesses. But Carlisle borders the Dutch Country where thrift is considered a virtue.

Good Old Fun City

It was a fun weekend in New York City. One 22-year-old student, strolling along the West Side, was accosted by three Negro youths. He didn't have a cigarette. Sorry, he didn't; so they stabbed him to death. A 78-year-old man was beaten up in his apartment on the East Side, just in case anyone believes that crime in Fun City is asymmetrical. And in the Bronx a husband was tied down while a visitor sodomized his wife, then burglarized the apartment, and left, whistling no doubt. The husband, his bonds untied, rushed out with a shotgun and bagged the assailant, subsequently discovered by the police who followed the trail of blood.

A cabdriver, age 22, was killed by three young men. And then a plainclothesman spotted, early in the morning, a 60-year-old man, running hard after an Amazonian lady, wearing only his undershorts. She had broken into his apartment, all 175 pounds of her, rifled his wallet of $8, threatened him with a knife, and he was now running after her. The policeman took charge, arrested the lady, and then escorted the gentleman home. On reaching his apartment building, some loitering young men made cracks about his semi-nudity, and the plainclothesman explained who he was, and why the gentleman was wearing only shorts. The youths fell upon the policeman and beat him up. But they did not kill him. The quality of mercy is not absent from Fun City, indeed there are those who maintain that it is more fun to maim than to kill.

Not everybody takes that position. New York is very diverse, one of its charms, have a friend who has always kept his 7-year-old automobile in a garage just west of 9th Avenue, in midtown Manhattan. He will not return his car to the garage after dark, nowadays, because to do so means that he is exposed to a half-block's walk to 9th Avenue where he must stand and hail a taxi. It is necessary for non-New Yorkers to understand that it isn't safe to walk a half-block in search of a taxi on the west side of New York.

My friend, who is unprepared to die, has heard a most bizarre report which might have been the inventive work of Robert Louis Stevenson or Conan Doyle, only in this case its provenance is apparently the police. It appears that there is an extremely exclusive club of young Negroes in New York City, whose membership is limited to those who have killed a white man. The signature of the club-killing is said to be the preliminary question: "Do you have a cigarette?" And the rules are that if the passerby is carrying cigarettes and makes them available, he is spared. If the passerby happens to be a non-smoker, well, you can't win them all. The F.B.I. turns the whole thing into statistics. In the first six months of this year, compared to the same period during 1966, murder is up 26 per cent, rape 14 per cent, robbery 92 per cent, aggravated assault 36 per cent, burglary 49 per cent, larceny 15 per cent, auto theft 23 per cent. And all of this, to use the figure of a local commentator, "despite a police force outnumbering a World War II army division."

The weekend news also brings a rundown of the prosecutions that followed the rioting last summer. Here and there, the prosecution has been vigorous, e.g., in Atlanta, Georgia, Cambridge, Maryland, and Toledo, Ohio. They are the exceptions. In Detroit during the riots, 7,231 persons were arrested. Of that number, exactly 40 adults are now in jail, and most of them on account of previous crimes. A thousand or so will be tried sometime next spring, around maypole time perhaps. In Boston, after three days of rioting in the Roxbury district, 35 persons were arrested. The total result: five persons fined $500 each, and three three-month jail sentences. Really, it is riskier by far to walk a dozen blocks in New York City minding your own business, than to participate in a riot, burning, stealing, and killing.

And finally, we have a report from Atlanta discussing the plans of the Reverend Martin Luther King to organize coast-to-coast civil disobedience this spring and summer, which Dr. King described as "a method of dislocating the functioning of a city without destroying life and property." For instance, there will be "camp-ins" at the Capitol. Permanent camps. "We intend to go there and stay," said Dr. King. "I am convinced," he says happily, that "civil disobedience can curtail riots." I am convinced that Martin Luther King belongs behind bars, along with everybody else who conspires to break the law.

It is easy to nag at those who believe that the way to "cure" crime is to get tough. The answer of course is that crime is not cured by punishment, but that crime is curbed by the sequestration of criminals, who ought to be strolling the corridors of Sing Sing, rather than the sidewalks of New York. The other point of course is that neither is crime cured by asserting the apostolic right of Martin Luther King to decide which laws are congenial to him, and which it is the duty of all of us to disobey. Surely there are others who see the nexus?

Perhaps the sharpest area of conflict has been not only between the administration and its own forces within the legislative branch but also within the administration legislative blocs in the House and Senate as well.

For example, because of a conflict of ideology the Shafter Administration has been unable to move in these eleven months the $300 million suggested by His Excellency -- and this notwithstanding the fact that the administration's own forces are in control of both legislative chambers and have the seats to provide the votes to pass any legislation the administration desires.

However, again a conflict within the administration's own Senate and House blocs has prevented this from taking place. In fact when you come right down to it, this has prevented movement of what loosely is referred to as the Shafter Administration legislative program -- outside the orbit of fiscal affairs.

A secondary area of conflict has dogged this session too. This concerns the conflict between the administration and Democratic anti-administration forces. Again, in theory, it should not have become an area of conflict inasmuch as administration Republicans have the (theoretical) strength on their own to move this or that legislative gem -- to the complete ignoring of minority Democrats.

However it hasn't worked out this way, as conflict within administration Republican ranks has consistently denied the administration such area of workability. Upshot has been that administration Republicans have had to turn to minority Democrats in the hope of gaining support -- which in itself is a built-in conflict of almost violently opposing ideologies! But the area of conflict doesn't end there for this 1967 session.

With the constitutional convention convening tomorrow in the hall of the House of Representatives, another conflict presents itself for the 1967 session -- the first time this type of conflict has ever developed. And -- when the 1968 session convenes on that somewhat famous "first Tuesday in January" (January 2) the conflict will persist inasmuch as the convention then will still be in session (until the end of February) which is expected to force the 1968 session to meet on opening day and then recess until March.

Actually though, next year's legislative gathering will be, in effect, a continuation of this year's session inasmuch as a Legislature now is regarded as a continuing two-year go-around. In other words, the conflict continues!

Why Some Men Are Happy

TOKYO -- American women could learn a lot from Japanese wives. Despite subversive attempts to liberate her, the Japanese wife is still a slave to her husband, who is her "only master on earth."

This has not only made for happiness in the Japanese household, but it also has kept the divorce rate down to 10 per cent, as opposed to the United States where 25 per cent of all couples seem to find reasons to split up.

What are the major differences between the American and Japanese woman? For one thing, the Japanese woman is much more concerned about the welfare of her husband. On cold mornings, for example, I was told a good Japanese wife will prostrate herself on her husband's side of the bed, so he won't have to step down on a cold floor.

It's small gestures like this that make for a solid marriage and a happy home.

Another area in which Japanese women excel is giving their husbands baths. There is an old Japanese proverb that a "family who washes together slobes together," and anyone who has been bathed by a Japanese woman will never want to take an American shower again.

Unlike the American woman, a Japanese wife looks forward to giving her husband a bath. She stays home all day cooking the hot water so it will be just right when her husband arrives from a hard day at the office.

First the wife will bow to him, and then help him off with his clothes. Then she'll start scrubbing him down with soap, making sure not to get any in his eyes. Finally, she'll rinse him off. Only then will she allow him into the bathtub where he will soak up to his chin, while she serves him a cold beer or a hot glass of sake.

After the bath the wife will then massage her husband's back, and even walk on him if he's really tired. Then she'll dry him off and dress him for dinner. By this time the husband is in a good humor and willing to listen to what the kids did in school.

Contrast this to the average American home where the American wife not only refuses to bow to her husband when he comes home, but in some cases won't even give him a bath. And when she does give him a bath it's slam-bang, thank-you-ma'am, and about as romantic as a TV dinner.

Most American wives will run the water, hit their husbands a couple of times with a washcloth and then hand him a towel and say, "Dry yourself."

No wonder American husbands are irritable and hard to get along with at the end of the day. You would be, too, if your wife refused to walk on your back.

American women are afraid that if they offer to bathe their husbands, they will be considered inferior. This is ridiculous. A wife who knows how to bathe her husband in the Japanese style is a superior person, and one whom any husband would be proud of stepping on when he gets out of bed in the morning.

WASHINGTON -- The polls show many Democrats preferring Sen. Robert F. Kennedy to President Johnson. His short-est television appearances command the front pages, but, in fact, he is becoming a pretty lonely long-distance runner.

It is very strange indeed that this should be happening. The senator bears the greatest name in modern American politics. In character, in grasp of the great problems, in guts and energy, in power of personal appeal he is quite obviously the most promising man of his age who has been seen in American politics for a very long time. He is surrounded by passionate admirers, as well as some who wish to bask in his reflected glory and profit by their alleged closeness to him. And a blaze of publicity lights his every act.

The year 1972, moreover, is the obvious goal of his long-distance race; and by then, Vietnam, the problem that has chiefly divided him from the Johnson Administration, will certainly belong to history. Or there may even be a Republican in the White House. You would think, then, that loneliness would be the last condition that he ought to fear.

Yet Sen. Kennedy speaks to his friends, with a kind of rueful fatalism, of the acute danger of his future "isolation." There are two reasons for this very unexpected reading of his own future. The main one is Sen. Kennedy's decidedly somber reading of the immediate American future.

WASHINGTON -- Behind the cautious optimism expressed by General William Westmoreland in his public reports on the progress of the Vietnam War there has been a smoldering dispute between his headquarters and the Pentagon over intelligence estimates.

Caught in the middle was Maj. Gen. Joseph Alexander McChristian, Westmoreland's former intelligence chief, who has now been transferred from Saigon to Fort Hood, Texas.

McChristian's estimates of communist infiltration and recruitment were a constant source of annoyance to Secretary of Defense McNamara, who thought they were higher than they ought to be. He suspected the estimates might even have been deliberately inflated to justify Westmoreland's repeated requests for more manpower.

McNamara was anxious to avoid calling up the reserves or increasing the draft calls; therefore, he preferred to believe lower estimates of enemy strength. The Air Force also didn't like McChristian's figures, which implied that the bombing was hardly slowing down the infiltration.

Westmoreland, however, had a soldier's reluctance to underestimate enemy strength. It is always safer, he knew, to accept the maximum estimates.

Even at best, keeping watch on Viet Cong movements is extremely difficult. Trail watchers and sensory devices are used to measure the movement over the infiltration routes. But the Viet Cong can move an entire division through the dense jungle under the noses of our observers, who might not be able to detect any sign of a mass movement that passes within 1,500 yards of them.

Captured documents and prisoners also don't always give an accurate idea of enemy infiltration. North Vietnamese units, for example, often change their identification three or four times before they reach their assigned combat area in South Vietnam. Most of the prisoners are dull privates who can't keep up with all the changes. Before the presence of a North Vietnamese unit is accepted as "confirmed," it must be reported by two independent sources. Thus, the infiltration of only a few hundred men is officially "confirmed" each month.

Westmoreland is obliged to rely upon estimates, based largely upon the count from our observation teams and electronic detectors. Intelligence specialists, who worked with McChristian, have told this column that his estimates were conservative. He insisted upon hard information and would never resort to guesswork in preparing his estimates. Privately, these specialists believe more North Vietnamese managed to infiltrate into the south than he ever counted.

Yet his infiltration estimates ranged around 10,000 a month in 1966, reached as high as 14,000 in June, 1966. He also estimated the Viet Cong recruitment in the south at around 7,500 a month.

Behind the Optimism

Privately, these specialists believe more North Vietnamese managed to infiltrate into the south than he ever counted.

Yet his infiltration estimates ranged around 10,000 a month in 1966, reached as high as 14,000 in June, 1966. He also estimated the Viet Cong recruitment in the south at around 7,500 a month.

Note: Whatever the correct figure, it's significant that in late 1966 before the United States bombing the north, the infiltration of North Vietnamese troops south was estimated at 2,000 a month. The bombing was started Feb. 7, 1965, to stop this infiltration. Since then infiltration is estimated at a minimum of 5,000 to 6,000 a month and a maximum of 14,000.

There was subtle pressure on McChristian from the Pentagon to reduce his estimates, which he refused to do. He took more care, however, to back up his estimates with hard intelligence.

It is true that the number of "confirmed" infiltrators has dropped dramatically since 1966. One reason, however, is that North Vietnam has been sending down individual replacements rather than units. This makes it vastly more difficult to confirm from two sources the presence of a group of infiltrators.

Yet the "confirmed" rate is one of the factors that go into figuring the estimates. With McChristian in Texas, the "confirmed" count-down and the captured enemy documents which tell of increased problems, infiltration estimates have dropped to 5,000 to 6,000 a month. The Viet Cong recruitment rate is also estimated around 3,600 a month, about half McChristian's previous figures.

Some intelligence experts believe McNamara, who has seized upon the lower figures, is deluding himself. On the other hand there is evidence that the Viet Cong are having trouble keeping up their strength.

Note: A year ago, the Viet Cong battalions were taking such a battering that most experts believed that they would be broken up into smaller, more elusive guerrilla bands. McChristian contended, however, that this would be such a major retreat that it would be an admission the Viet Cong believed they were losing. His appraisal has turned out to be correct.

While the House has been yelling about spending for the war on poverty, Rep. James Scheuer, D-N.Y., points out that there has been no Congressional outcry about federal largesse in other areas -- even when it goes down the drain.

Scheuer reminded Congress recently that in the last few years $4.5 billion of military hardware programs were abandoned, at a total loss. They included the Skybolt missile ($2 billion), Dynasoar glide bomber ($1 billion), manned aircraft propulsion ($1 billion), the PM6 mine-laying seaplane ($450 million) and the Pluto project ($200 million).

"These were experimental programs and I am sure no House member would point the finger of guilt because of failure," said the New Yorker. "I would hope that there would be some comparable charity toward efforts to end poverty in our land."

"I am depressed by the empty defeatism of domestic doves who seek withdrawal from the poverty war in the face of an enemy whose battalions are composed of joblessness, hunger, illiteracy and desperation."

"Instead of poverty being their enemy, they appear to regard the poor as the enemy. I believe there ought to be more domestic hawks on the floor of this chamber -- and I am proud to be one."

Most of the prisoners are dull privates who can't keep up with all the changes. Before the presence of a North Vietnamese unit is accepted as "confirmed," it must be reported by two independent sources. Thus, the infiltration of only a few hundred men is officially "confirmed" each month.

Westmoreland is obliged to rely upon estimates, based largely upon the count from our observation teams and electronic detectors. Intelligence specialists, who worked with McChristian, have told this column that his estimates were conservative. He insisted upon hard information and would never resort to guesswork in preparing his estimates. Privately, these specialists believe more North Vietnamese managed to infiltrate into the south than he ever counted.

Yet his infiltration estimates ranged around 10,000 a month in 1966, reached as high as 14,000 in June, 1966. He also estimated the Viet Cong recruitment in the south at around 7,500 a month.

Note: Whatever the correct figure, it's significant that in late 1966 before the United

SYLVIA PORTER

What 'Pound' Means

The surface, short-term meaning of the British devaluation of the pound from $2.80 to $2.40 to you, an American consumer, is easy to state. Imports from Britain, and other countries which have followed her and similarly devalued their currencies against the U. S. dollar, will be cheaper. A sweater priced at 10 pounds, for instance, could cost $24 instead of $28. A British auto priced at 1,000 pounds could cost $2,400 instead of $2,800. So it will go to various degrees.

But the underlying, long-term significance of the pound devaluation goes far beyond this. Some implications have already clearly emerged; others can be only dimly foreseen at this stage; still others are threats which we must do all within our power to prevent from becoming realities.

One thing is sure: if you feel utterly disinterested in and unaffected by a change in value of the currency of a tight little island across the Atlantic ocean, you are very wrong. This event will be influencing your everyday financial life and your pocketbook for a long time. To be specific, here are a few of the implications of Britain's actions to you. . . .

AS A BORROWER: All interest rates in the U.S. are moving to new high levels in the wake of Britain's increase in her basic bank rate to 8 per cent. To prevent an outflow of U.S. funds to London to take advantage of this fat return, the Federal Reserve System is pushing up the rates holders of funds can earn here on short-term investments. The basic U. S. interest rate (the discount rate) is up to 4 1/2 per cent; the bank rate to prime borrowers is up to 6 per cent; all other borrowing rates scale up from these. Mortgage money will become more expensive and so will loans for the purchase of big-ticket items, for modernization and expansion of your business, for financing desirable local public projects.

The trend was on toward more expensive and tighter money before the devaluation. The upswing has now been accelerated and intensified. This will raise the cost of operating your business and if you borrow money, your cost of living. The importance of shopping intelligently for credit is greater than ever.

AS A SAVER: Just as you must pay more for money you borrow, so you will receive more for money you save. You can buy A-quality corporation bonds returning interest of up to 7 per cent a year and U. S. Government marketable obligations returning more than 5 1/2 per cent a year. You can get the ceiling rates of 5-5 1/2 per cent on savings in financial institutions the nation over and a crack in the ceilings is probably imminent.

AS A TAXPAYER: The chances for an increase in your income taxes has been enhanced by the British emergency. The U. S. dollar is now under attack by speculators throughout the world and the integrity of our dollar will be in question as long as we continue to run huge deficits in our balance of payments and in our Federal budget. An income tax hike plus government spending cuts would demonstrate to the world's central banks our determination to get our domestic budget under control. These would be mighty moves to defend the dollar. If your taxes are raised soon, a key reason will be the British devaluation (how's that for an illustration of the impact of this distant event on your pocketbook!)

AS A BUSINESSMAN INVESTING MONEY IN EUROPE: Stiffer restraints on business investments abroad are highly likely to help cut the outflow of U. S. funds and thus to help close the gap between what we spend and earn abroad. Corporations with major European investment programs will be hit.

AS AN EXPORTER OF U. S. GOODS TO LONDON: Selling goods will be tougher, for your products will cost more in England and in other lands which have reduced the value of their currencies in terms of

Britain Burns Livestock In Effort to Curb Epidemic

LONDON (AP) — The smoky reek of death rises over Britain's russet countryside this fall. The nation is burning infected livestock.

The worst epidemic of foot and mouth disease this island has ever known has brought the destruction of more than 200,000 animals — cattle, sheep, pigs, goats.

More than 1,000 farms and 14 northern counties are directly affected. The rest of the nation is in a state of virtual siege in an attempt to keep the disease from spreading.

Standstill orders prohibit the movement of cattle, sheep or pigs. The markets are silent and deserted, their stalls empty.

The 500 veterinarians fighting the epidemic — animal version of an epidemic — say the virus is the most virulent encountered yet. They aren't sure of its origin but they believe that a farmer's boot, a truck tire or a sudden change of wind can spread it.

Since the accepted method of control is slaughter, each new outbreak means another farmer's livestock is wiped out.

The farmer gets market value for his lost stock. He gets nothing for the consequential losses — milk yield, butter sales, the cost of building a new herd.

To some the spread of the disease, which first showed at Oswestry near the Welsh border five weeks ago, is reaching alarming proportions. There have even been suggestions it is out of control.

Minister of Agriculture Fred Peart calls such talk irresponsible. Even with the current proportions of judicial carnage, he says, Britain is losing less than one in every hundred of her 9 million cattle, 5½ million pigs and 20 million sheep.

But the blow to badly needed exports is severe. Rudi Steinberg, chairman of the Agricultural Export Council, has reported the loss of a $297,600 order from the Soviet Union for British cattle.

While many farmers are forced to live virtually isolated on their farms, windows closed against the stench from their burning stock, each countryman's life is affected.

Fox hunting, favorite winter sport of landowner and farmer alike, is completely stopped. So is horse racing.

The famed Smithfield Fat Stock Show will have no live animals — just farm machinery. London's Christmas poultry show is off; while the disease does not affect poultry, officials discourage large meetings of farmers.

Southern England's 104 square miles of New Forest, once William the Conqueror's favored hunting ground, has been cleared of all grazing stock for the first time in 700 years. Several zoos have closed. State homes are barred to visitors to protect deer in their parks.

The 30,000 Irish who usually go home for a Christmas visit are asked by the republic's government to stay away this time. Those who travel have to walk through an atomizer mist of disinfectant on arriving at Dublin Airport.

14 Cars Collide

JAMESTOWN, N.Y. — Fourteen cars which clanged together like freight cars on steep English street resulted in numerous damages but no injuries here early Tuesday morning.

The cars were traveling down English Hill at frequent intervals when they slid into preceding vehicles in the slippery snow, according to police.

The series of "fender bender" mishaps occurred about 7:45 a.m. as the occupants were en route to various places of employment, according to traffic patrolmen.

New Government Blocked From Taking Power

(c) N.Y. Times News Service CALCUTTA, India — The new government of West Bengal State was blocked from taking power yesterday by an unexpected procedural ruling during a tumultuous session of the State Assembly.

The Speaker of the Assembly blocked a confidence vote for the new government on the ground that the governor of the state had illegally appointed it. He then adjourned the assembly.

The speaker's action introduced a surprise twist into the political melodrama that has been unfolding here since the ouster last week of the United Front Regime in which the left Communists were the most prominent force.

Pandemonium broke out in the assembly as the speaker, Bijoy Banerjee, read his ruling. Stunned members of the Congress Party leaped to their feet to shout out points of order.

Banerjee, an independent who was elected to the assembly with the backing of the left Communists, ignored them and read on in a quavering voice.

Dr. Prafulla Chandra Ghosh, the defector from the United Front who was named chief minister by the governor last week after the dismissal of the front, hunched forward on a rear bench shrugging and smiling in apparent confusion.

When the speaker finished, the front's supporters in the assembly rose cheering and surged for the exits. Someone threw a briefcase at Ghosh. Supporters of the 76-year-old chief minister pushed their way toward him to form a protective cordon.

Several inkpots arched across the chamber spilling red ink on the jostling parliamentarians.

As soon as he was freed, Ghosh announced that he would continue in office. "I am not going to be cowed by these cowards," he said.

Congress Party sources indicated that they would petition the governor to reconvene the assembly so that they could pass a motion expressing no confidence in the speaker.

Still Critical

A Pittsburgh hunter, wounded Monday in a mishap in Limestone township, Warren County, is still listed in critical condition at Oil City Hospital.

Clifford Hutson was shot at 10 a.m. while hunting in an area filled with a number of other hunters. He was taken to Oil City Hospital following the mishap near Tidoute.

The incident is being investigated by Game Protector Dave Parr of Tidoute.

French Rabbi Accuses DeGaulle of Anti-Semitism

(c) N.Y. Times News Service PARIS — The Grand Rabbi of France tonight accused President de Gaulle of anti-Semitism and expressed the fear that de Gaulle's news conference Monday may have opened the door to anti-Jewish discrimination in the country.

The Rabbi, Jacob Kaplan, declared in a statement that to substantiate his denunciation of Israel, de Gaulle had attributed to the Jewish people "a secular inclination to seek domination."

In doing so, the General "accepted the risk of taking a dangerous lead and giving the highest possible sanction to a campaign of discrimination," the statement suggested.

It was issued by Kaplan after two days of meetings by the leaders of France's principal Jewish organizations.

De Gaulle at his news conference said that the Jews were "at all times an elite people, sure of itself and domineering."

The precise meaning of the phrase, as is often the case with the President's oratory, was open to conflicting interpretations.

He used the French word "dominateur." According to the three leading French dictionaries, Larousse, Littré and Quillet the word means, roughly, tending to dominance or to eminence and has no particularly pejorative meaning.

But Harra's, the leading French-English dictionary lists: (A) dominating, dominant, ruling (B) domineering, overbearing.

The Jewish community, as demonstrated by Kaplan's statement, chose the latter meaning — namely a "secular inclination toward domination."

If the charge of anti-Semitism takes hold it could become a source of acute political embarrassment to the Gaullist regime.

There might be desertions among Gaullist deputies in the National Assembly, where the government has a majority of one.

The President's sharp denunciation of Israel last June and his decision to impose an arms embargo on Israel has already caused dissatisfaction among many Gaullist politicians.

4 Universities Share $10.8 Million

By JOSEPH G. HERZBERG
(c) N.Y. Times News Service
NEW YORK—Four major universities are to share Ford Foundation grants of $10.8 million for what the presidents of the four institutions called the best organized academic approach toward finding solutions for problems confronting American cities.

In an announcement yesterday, the foundation allotted $3 million each to the University of Chicago, Harvard and the Massachusetts Institute of Technology. Columbia University received $1.8 million, which is part of a total of $10 million the Foundation had previously reported that it would provide for the university.

Last month, Columbia received $2.7 million for programs leading to improvement of conditions in Harlem. Another $5.5 million will go to Columbia eventually.

The grants today extend for three years, and by 1970 the four universities are expected to establish among them a total of 14 endowed professorships in fields directly concerned with urban planning and administration.

The Ford Foundation announcement mentioned that "as many as 20 prospects for permanent appointment may be supported on an annual basis" before the endowed professors are

Kyles Returned To Stand Trial For Murder

ANNAPOLIS, Md. (AP)—Alphonso W. Kyles was ordered yesterday returned to Pennsylvania to stand trial in the murder of a 20-year-old Pennsylvania State University student.

Edward J. Menard, one of Kyles' lawyers, said the decision of Gov. Spiro T. Agnew would be fought "all the way through the state and federal courts if necessary."

He said he would seek a court order to keep Kyles in Maryland until the issue is finally settled.

Kyles, 38, of Washington and Frederick Robbins Jr., 30 of Hyattsville, Md., are charged with the shooting-killing murder of Charles F. Mills, 20, of Falls Church, Va., in his off-campus room at State College, Pa., Sept. 23.

Joseph D. Buscher, assistant attorney general, announced Gov. Spiro's decision at a brief meeting yesterday with Kyles and his lawyers.

At an extradition hearing Nov. 16, Kyles' lawyers argued he should not be returned to Pennsylvania because he was mentally incompetent to aid in his defense.

Buscher said yesterday Pennsylvania's request for Kyles extradition was granted without considering "the point of insanity."

"They asked us to write a legal memorandum on the question of insanity, and then tell us they didn't even consider the point they asked us to write the memorandum on," he said.

Indiana Youth Is 4-H Winner

CHICAGO (AP)—An 18-year-old Pennsylvania youth who has grown several hundred Blue Spruce from seedlings, yesterday was named one of four winners in the 4-H Forestry Scholarship program.

The award of a $1,600 college scholarship to Thomas E. Fabin, Rt. 1, Indiana, Pa., was announced at the 46th National 4-H Club Congress.

Fabin is a freshman at Pennsylvania State University majoring in forest technology.

Earlier, $500 educational scholarships were awarded James Rohrbach, 18, Rt. 2, Littlestown, Pa., a freshman at St. Olaf College, Northfield, Minn., and Susan J. Piester, 18, of Rt. 1, Muncy, Pa., a freshman at Smith College, Northampton, Mass., as winners in the 4-H Achievement program.

selected. This means, it was learned from university sources, that there would be a probationary period for the candidates. The universities are anxious to bring a group of younger, more activist professors into the urban field.

There was some hint of this in the statement in which McGee, president of the Foundation, joined the four university presidents—George W. Beadle of Chicago, Grayson Kirk of Columbia, Nathan Pusey of Harvard and Howard W. Johnson, of M.I.T.

The statement said that despite money and talent already expended, "the root problems of American cities remain unsolved, complex and explosive."

The presidents added: "It seems clear that without additional skilled manpower and greater inventiveness in the urban field, efforts to improve present conditions and develop future patterns in the cities that are both humane and efficient will fall far short of their goals."

Ever since the Golden Eagle was hatched from the egg Congress laid when it tried to come up with a method of collecting fees from recreationists, the poor old bird has been having his feathers picked. First because the Land and Water Conservation Fund Act left too much of the policy making to the heads of various federal agencies, with each agency coming up with a different idea on what should be charged for and what shouldn't be. And then because these agencies soon came to realize that they had been saddled with the collection chore while the monies they collected went to fund non-federal agencies in many cases.

But the feather picking went further than this. Some of the recreationists who plunked down their seven dollars for one of the ducats soon found that while their privileges had been purchased on a yearly basis, the actual use of the facilities to which it admitted them was limited to the period between Memorial and Labor Day. And when it became apparent to some of these purchasers that the "passport to adventure" provided many free services in the western part of the country that were charged for in the East, the feathers really flew.

But the real feather picker of them all has been the U.S. Corps of Engineers. Right from the start this agency that had been drawn into the recreation field with some reluctance objected to the policies and provisions of the Land and Water Conservation Act, and especially to the fact that their personnel was expected to become ticket-takers at the facilities they had provided.

No one seems to know why, but when the act went into effect the Pittsburgh District of the Corps was exempt from participating. As a result, Corps facilities such as those at the Tionesta Dam have been allowed to operate without either entrance or use charges while those on adjacent federal lands (the Allegheny National Forest) have enforced the provisions of the act to the hilt.

However, early this year there appeared signs of a compromise when it was announced that the Corps would agree to institute fees at their recreational areas where over a quarter-million of dollars had been spent in developing the recreation area where the fee would be charged. But the offer of compromise had hardly been made before bills were being introduced in Congress that would prohibit the collection of the fees at Corps recreational facilities and prevent any compromise being made.

One of these bills, perhaps the first, was introduced by Messrs. Edwin W. Edwards and Speedy O. Long, both of Louisiana. H. R. 11237 would amend the River and Harbor Act of 1965 to prohibit certain fees from being charged in connection with the projects administered by the Secretary of the Army. It would prohibit the charging of fees under the Land and Water Conservation Fund Act for entrance, admission, or access to the project area or for the use of minimal recreational facilities. No charge could be levied for the use of any boat mooring, docking facility, duck blind, ski-jump float, or similar facilities on any Army Engineer project.

This proposal, along with others that have been introduced before or since, has encouraged the Corps of Engineers to withhold action on the proposed compromise. In a recent announcement (November 8) the Department of the Army stated that the collection of fees in connection with their recreational facilities would be postponed until January 1, 1969 to give Congress time to decide on pending legislation.

How the matter finally turns out isn't of too much consequence. The fact is that sooner or later the recreationist is going to have to pay fees if he expects to enjoy his favorite sport at either state or federal recreational facilities.

What may be far more interesting locally is what decision will be made if it is decided that facilities constructed by the Corps of Engineers are to be charge-free, and those facilities are being operated by the Forest Service which is totally dedicated to the Golden Eagle program.

What about Willow Bay? Roper Hollow? Onoville? Will the users of these areas have to pay or not? Or, considering the fact that the Kinzua Dam is an "Army Engineer" project, will the charge can apply to both the shores and waters of the huge impoundment?

We may have thought that once the Kinzua Dam was completed and functioning we could shake Congress out of our hair and get down to a rational existence. But that doesn't seem to be the way it works out. Once the philanthropical lawmakers get their feet in the door you're living with them as permanent house guests. However, as is true with many other members of the recreational clan, I find the lawmakers much easier to live with than the scrawny bird they hatched through the enactment of the Land and Water Conservation Fund Act, an act with a wealth of potential that has suffered from poor administration.

County to Have Second Fish Warden in '68

Warren County will get a "second" county fish warden shortly after the first of the year. The new warden will be George Jones who will graduate from the H.R. Stackhouse Fishery, Conservation and Water-craft Safety School in Harrisburg today.

Tentative plans are that the territory covered by Ken Corey the present warden, will be split with Jones taking the western portion of the county. Corey, will retain, in addition to the many trout streams in the eastern part of the county, the Kinzua Dam and Conewango Creek. The rest of the county will be covered by Jones.

The appointment of Jones carries out the desire of Robert Bielo, executive director of the who has thought that the work load in Warren County was too heavy for a single warden.

Stats Show Why Jets Are on Top

NEW YORK (AP) — Major reasons for the New York Jets' No. 1 standing in the Eastern Division of the American Football League were reflected yesterday in the team statistics.

Additional reasons were offered by Paul Rochester, the club's veteran defensive tackle. The Jets top the circuit in total offense with 3,747 yards and are second in total defense with a yield of 2,503 yards.

Rochester, 29 years old and an eight-year AFL vet, is one of New York's front four which also includes Jim Harris, another tackle, and ends Verlon Biggs and Gerry Philbin. The four helped the Jets hold Boston's Jim Nance to only 31 yards on the ground in their last outing.

"All four of us have different styles," Rochester explained, "but we've merged into a unit. We know each other's moves."

Only one back has gained more than 100 yards rushing against the Jets. He is Kansas City's Mike Garrett. "After every game I sit down and try to write the things down that the team we played did to us," said Rochester. "I study their moves. If you've seen them before, you know their personnel and you can eliminate down to two or three plays what they can hurt you with in any given situation."

San Diego is the runner-up in team offense with 3,666 yards followed by Kansas City, 3,629, and Oakland, 3,508.

Hoosiers Prove It - Desire Wins Game

rightfully belong in the Rose Bowl against No. 1 Southern California's Trojans on New Year's Day.

The Big Ten athletic directors can be proud of their decision. Indiana's 19-14 upset of Purdue had more to do with the choice than the fact that the Hoosiers had never before been to Pasadena.

Purdue looked like the Big Ten champion two weeks ago, especially after it took Minnesota 41-12. The next week, Minnesota humbled Indiana 33-7 and seemed bowl bound because Purdue was ineligible to return under the Big Ten agreement.

But then Indiana pulled the upset of the season and brought about a Big Ten three-way tie after many experts thought the Hoosiers might do well to finish third. It was that kind of a season.

Look what Syracuse did to UCLA, a team that missed by one point as the Pacific—Rose Bowl representative.

Indiana and Coach Johnny Pont deserve a world of credit. They were bombed in Minneapolis. It could have been demoralizing to their sophomores and dashed to smithereens their fondest hopes.

The Indiana-Purdue statistics tell the story in one line: fumbles lost—Purdue 4, Indiana 0. The Hoosier defense rose to the task with fierce tackling, turning two second-period fumbles into TD marches.

Indiana will go down in 1967 football history as the Cinderella team but it's not the Cinderella story that they invented. The phrase "Desire" because they beat a Bollinger team that was the best ever coached by Jack Mollenkopf. In fact, I gave them No. 1 rating only a week ago.

Indiana points out once again that hustle, spirit and enthusiasm outweigh all the statistics which many people erroneously use as a guideline to determine a victor.

A team that goes all out and tries its best on every play always has a chance to win just as any person who continually puts forth his best effort is bound to succeed.

Indiana will be underdogs against USC but perhaps now the fans and so-called experts will begin to take Johnny Pont's underrated team more seriously than the dope sheets.

The Hoosiers have come back a long way twice in one year. They were 1-8-1 a year ago but they won eight straight this fall, five of them with last-period

Idaho Grid Coach Quits

MOSCOW, Idaho (AP) — The University of Idaho said yesterday football Coach Steve Musseau has resigned, effective Feb. 1, 1968. His resignation was submitted in spite of a petition signed by members of the football team urging him to stay on.

The university said Musseau, who had led the Vandals for the past three seasons, has made no definite plan for the future. There was conjecture he would remain at the university in another capacity.

Paul Ostyn, the university's athletic director, said the head football coaching position was wide open. This dispelled rumors that assistant coach Ed Trombl had been named to succeed Musseau.

During his three years Musseau compiled a 13-17 record at the university, the best mark since the 1920s.

Warren's Dan O'Neil Voted AP Second Team All-State

Warren Area High School's Dan O'Neil received a second team berth on the 1967 Pennsylvania State Scholastic Football Team announced yesterday by The Associated Press. O'Neil, the Dragons' 166-pound senior left halfback, and Erie East quarterback Denny Satyshur, a third team selection, were the only northwest Pennsylvania gridgers named to the first three teams.

Franklin guard Fred Blackhurst was the only other District X player on the list, receiving an Honorable Mention, as did two District IX gridgers, halfback Curt Cretti and end Jim Nelson, both of Ridgway.

O'Neil, who was a first team selection on the United Press International ballot released last week, led the Dragons to a 7-2 record, including five straight victories.

He scored 17 touchdowns, 12 by rushing, two on pass receptions, two on kickoff returns, one on a pass interception, and one extra-point for a total of 103 points for the season. O'Neil was over the 1,000 yards mark rushing for the second straight season, grinding out 1,494 yards on 208 carries, a 7.2 yards-per-carry and 166 yards-per-game average.

In addition, he caught eight passes for 121 yards and intercepted three enemy aerials while playing defense. Season-high performances included 313 yards rushing in Warren's crushing 40-0 triumph over Jamestown and five touchdowns in the 43-0 romp over Kane.

O'Neil was a third team choice on the 1966 AP All-State team. John Harris High School, whose current winning streak of 35 games is the longest in the state, placed two players on the first All-State team.

Jimmy Jones, who threw a record 35 touchdown passes for the Harrisburg school, and Milan Vecanski, who called defensive signals for the Pioneers, were among the all-senior eleven picked through a poll of sportswriters, sportscasters and coaches.

In addition to Jones at quarterback, the backfield had Ron (Po) James of New Brighton and Tom Miller of Reading at halfbacks, and Vince Russo, Mount Lebanon, at fullback.

Vecanski, at 227 pounds, is top weight on an All-State line that averages 205. He was named to a tackle spot along with Jack Dykes of Kiski Area. The other linemen are center Phil Toney, New Castle; guards Gary Gray, Levittown; Bishop Egan, and Phil Noto, Easton, and ends Jerry Giffin, Cedar Cliff, and John Babinecz, Pittsburgh Central Catholic.

USC coach Johnny McKay and I are close personal friends and he is one of the finest gentlemen and coaches in the game. However, conferences take precedence over friendship and you will find all Big Ten coaches supporting Indiana against the Trojans.

Purdue's loss forces me to go along with other voters and put the Trojans back at the top but I have not wavered on versatile Leroy Keys of Purdue as the nation's outstanding college player.

Keys fell short by 14 yards of the 1,000 rushing yards that are so desirable. But he'll be back next season. You can't win 'em all, and that has been the story of a wacky season.

The surprising results might continue on Saturday with the traditional Army-Navy battle in Philadelphia and the Tennessee-Vanderbilt game at Knoxville.

Army's great defense will be tested by an aerial-minded Mid-die team and Vanderbilt, with a 2-6-1 record and little to gain, will be throwing caution to the winds against Orange Bowl-bound Tennessee's Vols.

The picks:
Army 21, Navy 15; Jim Beavans and Bud, "The General"

Kelly Has Big Edge In Rushing Yardage

NEW YORK (AP) — Leroy Kelly of the Cleveland Browns holds a 301-yard lead in rushing over runner-up Jim Roland of the St. Louis Cardinals with only three weeks remaining in the National Football League season.

The league statistics released yesterday disclosed that Kelly, who gained 163 yards against Washington last Sunday, has lifted his season total to 1,034 yards. Roland has 733.

Kelly, named yesterday the NFL's Offensive Player of the Week, is the seventh player in the league to reach the 1,000-yard plateau more than once.

Charlie Taylor of Washington is the leading pass receiver with 53 receptions. Pat Studstill of Detroit is No. 1 in punting with a 45.4 yard average for 31 efforts.

Ben Davis of Cleveland is tops in punt returns with a 12.6 yard average while Chicago's Gale Sayers heads the kickoff return list with a 37.4 yard average.

tinues to lead in scoring with 98 points on 23 field goals and 29 extra points.

Baltimore's John Unitas is the leading passer on a basis of average yards gained, number of touchdowns by passing and percentage of interceptions. The Colts' star has completed 204 of 342 aerials for 2,799 yards, an 8.18 average, and 18 touchdowns. His passes have been intercepted 10 times.

There were no repeats from last year's first team, Jerry Shivers of Bellefonte, named to a halfback slot in 1966, was out of action for most of the season with a knee injury, but still managed to earn honorable mention.

Jones, an honorable mention choice last year, completed 123 of 197 (62 per cent) passes for 2,260 yards as he guided Harris to its seventh straight Central Penn League championship.

The scrappy quarterback, who as a defensive safety broke his neck in his sophomore year, closed out his high school career by throwing eight touchdown passes in a 64-0 victory over Harrisburg Penn. The performance broke the state record for one season of 34, established by Joe Emmi of Ridley Township in 1965.

James scored 200 points in 10 games as he led New Brighton (6-0-2) to its first undefeated season. His career total for three years was 400 points. He gained 1,476 net yards on 192 carries for an average of 7.7 yards per carry.

Miller, a tailback, was the Central Penn's leading rusher with 1,613 yards. He averaged 5 yards per carry. He also scored 20 touchdowns for Reading, only two short of the school record held by Lenny Moore, now of the Baltimore Colts.

Russo, who averaged 6 yards per carry, scored 16 touchdowns including both tallies as Mount Lebanon relinquished its WPIAL Class AA championship to New Castle, 20-14. The year before Russo had scored all three touchdowns as Mount Lebanon won the title over Hempfield, 18-14.

Giffin caught 58 passes for 678 yards and seven touchdowns in his final year at Cedar Cliff. Babinecz, who played on a basically running team, was an outstanding blocker who was alternated at tight end from one side of the line to the other, depending on which way the ball carrier was going.

Dykes has been termed by more than one coach "the best lineman in the WPIAL." Vecanski, a native of Yugoslavia, was the top man on defense for Harris, which gave up only 60 points all year.

Gray, a defensive linebacker who plays very little on offense,

Neswischensky should be able to hold Cartwright and his mates to two touchdowns. Meanwhile, look for Lindell, with his wobbly passes, and Charlie Jarvis, with his slashing runs to get at least three for the Black Knights.

Warriors Hold Wilt To 12, Defeat 76ers

BY RALPH BERNSTEIN
Associated Press Sports Writer
PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The San Francisco Warriors stymied Wilt Chamberlain on his home court for the second time in a month as they trounced the champion Philadelphia 76ers 113-95 last night in a National Basketball Association game at the Spectrum.

The last time the Warriors were here they held the 7-foot-1 Chamberlain to only one point and he failed to take a shot from the field. Last night, the 76ers, gained scored his first field goal with 5:02 remaining and the 76ers down 98-82. Chamberlain wound up with only 12 points.

Nate Thurmond, 6-foot-11 Warriors' center, held Chamberlain to three-for-11 from the field while the all-time league scoring champion experienced his usual difficulties from the free throw line with 6 for 17.

The Warriors won their seventh straight and moved to within a half-game of first place St. Louis in the NBA's Western Division. They broke the game open with a 14-5 surge at the start of the third period, which gave them a 12-point bulge.

The Warriors increased it to 81-66 at the end of three periods as Fred Hetzel scored 11 of his 20 points and Jeff Mullins chipped in with six of his 22. San Francisco boosted its lead to 20 points with 9:20 to go in the final period and ran out the clock from there. Chet Walker, with 24, and Luke Jackson, with 23, led the 76ers, who fell a full game behind Boston in the battle for the Eastern Division lead.

Chamberlain, who scored nine of his 12 points in the final 5½ minutes, was outbounded 25-23 by Thurmond.

Stateline-Eriez Raceways Alter Competition Rules

The inclusion of the smaller autos will be in the picture at Stateline-Eriez Speedway this season as track officials altered their wheel base rulings to include cars with a 108" wheel base.

This will mean that cars such as the Mustang, Camaro, Chevy II, Javelin, Jaguar, and others of the sporty type, will now be able to compete in the late model class.

For 1968, the Late Model Class will include cars within the year range of 1965-68. Also, a larger bonus will be paid to cars competing other than the traditional chevys. Chevys racing will receive a guaranteed $200 purse while other makes will be guaranteed a $400 bonus. This ruling is to obtain a larger variety of autos. Fiberglass bodies have also been excluded from running because of the danger in collision.

The Late Model point set-up has also been changed this year. The winner of a regular race will receive 200 points with the points descending at the rate of 10 per position for 20 places. Double points will be awarded for special races.

Bonus for individual races will be $175 for first place, $125 for second place, $100 for third place, $75 for fourth position and $50 for fifth place, in addition to the regular guaranteed purse.

Safety rules added will be mandatory shoulder harnesses and a full protective racing helmet. The helmet in years past has had leather ear protectors, but this will change with the new ruling requiring hard protection for the entire head.

Sportsmen cars for 1968 will have to stick to a 1935-1963 year range. All cars must be American made and closed, thus ruling out convertibles.

The Hooligan division will be added to the racing program for '68, with cars in the 1955-61 year range. All Hooligans must be American-made passenger cars and the engines must coincide with the year and model of the car.

In an effort to keep the Hooligans moving, officials have set a "claimers" on this division. Any car that wins the Hooligan feature, three nights in a row, is obligated to sell his auto for $300 if there is a buyer. If the owner does not wish to sell, he is restricted from racing his auto at the tracks. All Hooligan autos must have roll-over-bars and wheel reinforcement to compete this season.

A complete rule book for the 1968 racing season is available upon request by writing to Busti Speedway Inc., Box 236, Sugar Grove, 16350.

White Sox Get Aparicio In Swap with Baltimore

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer
MEXICO CITY (AP) — Luis Aparicio, the veteran shortstop coveted by several clubs, wound up with the Chicago White Sox again yesterday in a six-player baseball deal that sent pitcher Bruce Howard and infielder Don Buford to Baltimore.

The Orioles, striving to strengthen their pitching staff, gave up the 33-year-old Aparicio, outfielder Russ Snyder and minor league first baseman-outfielder John Matias to get the right-handed Howard and handyman Buford plus right-handed reliever Roger Nelson.

Baltimore had acquired John O'Donoghue, a left-handed pitcher, from Cleveland Tuesday night for knuckleball artist Eddie Fisher.

Cleveland pulled another deal Wednesday by sending Chuck Hinton to the California Angels for Jose Cardenal in a swap of right-handed hitting outfielders.

Both the Detroit Tigers and New York Yankees felt they were close to a deal for Aparicio until the final hours when the Orioles were able to get needed pitching from the White Sox for men whom Harry Dalton, Baltimore's director of player personnel, called expendable.

Hank Bauer, manager of the Orioles, said he expected Mark Belanger, a highly regarded prospect who spent much of 1967 on the Baltimore bench, to take over for the 33-year-old Aparicio. Bauer said Howard was the key man in the deal.

"Aparicio fell off a hitter last season," said Bauer. "But we still like him. We just had to find a spot for Belanger. Howard has pitched good against us. He has a good slider and will fit into our starting rotation with Jim Palmer, Dave McNally, Tom Phoebus and Jim Hardin."

"Buford can be our No. 1 utility infielder with a chance to break in if anybody is injured. He gives us bench strength. Buford has good speed and can even play the outfield in an emergency. I saw Nelson in five innings and liked him as a relief pitcher."

"We felt we could afford to deal Snyder because we have young fellows like Davey May and Curt Motton coming up after hitting over .300 in Rochester."

"Belanger will be our shortstop. He has a good glove. The only question is his hitting but we are counting on our big men — Frank Robinson, Brooks Robinson, Boog Powell, Curt Blefary and Paul Blair — to do the hitting."

Aparicio dropped off 43 points in hitting from his form in Baltimore's pennant winning year of 1966. He batted only .233 last season. The speedy little man from Maracaibo, Venezuela, thus returned to the White Sox for whom he played from 1956 through 1962.

Snyder, 33, dropped from .306 in 1965 to .236 last season as a part timer. Matias, who hit .279 at Elmira, N.Y., in the Eastern League, will go out to the White Sox' Hawaii farm of the Pacific Coast League.

Howard, 24, was only 3-10 last season with the White Sox and was farmed out to the Indianapolis farm.

The New York Mets have been talking with the White Sox about a center fielder. Bing Devine, Mets' president, said he had talked about both Tommie Agee and Ken Berry. The White Sox reportedly are interested in Tommy Davis.

Both managers, Bill Rigney of the Angels and Alvin Dark of the Indians, were pleased with the Hinton-Cardenal swap.

Hinton batted .245 and Cardenal .236 last season.

Salukis Now Big College

CARBONDALE, Ill. (AP) — Southern Illinois University has been recognized as a major college by the U.S. Basketball Writers Association, the university announced yesterday.

The university said it had been notified by the National Collegiate Athletic Association that the writers association has voted to reclassify the school.

Last year the Salukis ended the season at the top of the Associated Press ranking of small colleges while compiling a 24-2 record and winning the National Invitational Tournament in New York.

With Dick Garrett the only returning regular from that championship team, the Salukis open their season tomorrow at Carbondale against Sam Houston State. SIU has won its last 19 games.

Bout Scheduled

OAKLAND, Calif. (AP) — Thad Spencer of San Francisco and Jerry Quarry of Los Angeles signed yesterday to fight in Oakland Feb. 3, in a semifinal heavyweight elimination contest promoter Don Chargin of the Bonanza Boxing Club announced.

The 12-round bout will be part of the World Boxing Association elimination series for the title.

Tally Cambridge Vote on Vietnam

By JOHN H. FENTON
(c) N.Y. Times News Service
CAMBRIDGE, Mass.—Voters of this university city rejected Tuesday a proposal for the "prompt return home" of American forces in Vietnam.

Complete unofficial returns from the city's 55 precincts showed 17,742 voted against withdrawal and 11,349 in favor.

Another 1,960 voters failed to turn in valid replies for one reason or another, election officials said.

Returnees from around Harvard Square, an intellectual enclave where there is an active peace movement, showed strong support for withdrawal. This group carried four of 11 wards in the city. But this support was overcome in residential and in low income, blue collar areas. Cambridge is the home of Harvard University and the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, but it is heavily industrialized. There also is a peripheral hippie element. There are 44,805 registered voters out of a population of 92,677.

The city was one of two major communities in the nation to vote Nov. 7 on the Vietnam question. San Francisco turned down a referendum calling for a ceasefire and the withdrawal of American troops by about 132,000 to 76,600.

Frost, John Kenneth Galbraith, Harvard economist and a strong critic of the administration, in a statement read by a member of the committee at election headquarters, said, "where 40 per cent of the voters of Cambridge were willing to express themselves it shows an intellectual feeling against the war in Vietnam. The administration would make a grave mistake if it insists this is anything but a strong protest of its policy."

Boro Accident
Three motorists escaped injury in a collision at the intersection of Pennsylvania ave. and Pine st. Monday afternoon. The operators and the amount of damage to their cars were, Larry L. Olson, 19, 200 Madison ave., Warren, $190; John Paul King, 27, RD 4, North East, Pa., $300; and Donald Schroder, 28, West Lake rd., North East, Pa., $145.

Borough police said King and Schroder stopped for a red light at the intersection, but Olson failed to stop and ran into the back end of King's car, which then hit the Schroder vehicle.

Fear Escalation After McNamara

By ALVIN SHUSTER
(c) N.Y. Times News Service
LONDON—The impending departure from the Johnson administration of Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara has raised fears in some European capitals that the United States is planning to escalate the war in Vietnam.

The main thrust of the opinions was that the Joint Chiefs of Staff had won out in a struggle with McNamara over escalation, and that the Defense Secretary was leaving to make this possible.

The Vietnam issue has dominated the reaction among officials and bankers in the capitals, rather than that of McNamara's qualifications for his new job as head of the World Bank.

The secretary is generally regarded in these capitals as "dovish," a man who has managed to stave off repeated attempts by the military men below him to step up the pace of the war even more.

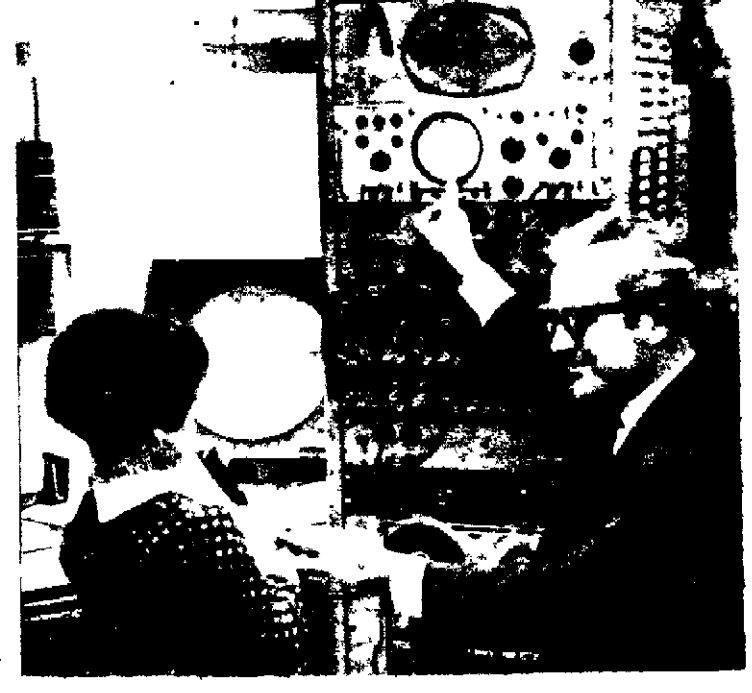

Those interviewed spoke highly of his ability and foresaw few difficulties for him in the post. Several officials expressed the view, however, that his association with the Vietnam war could handicap his early relations with some developing countries, but they predicted this would not be long-lasting.

"We always viewed him as a long-haul man, one who didn't rattle under the pressure to escalate more," said one source here.

The interviews took place here and in Paris, Rome and Brussels.

In Paris, officials and bankers took the view that the McNamara shift was one more indication that "rational views within the administration are losing out."

One of those who did comment, a banker in Paris, said: "you know, he'll probably turn out to be a good banker."

1967 Farm Loans

The Farmers Home Administration helped 116 rural families in Erie and Warren Counties with loans totaling $935,620 during the 1967 fiscal year, County Supervisor Robert J. Menely stated yesterday.

These loans were made to non-farmers living in rural areas for housing and to low income rural families to provide tools and supplies. Loans were made to farmers to improve and purchase farms, refinance of debts, purchase livestock and machinery, and pay other operating costs.

Menely stated the Farmers Home Administration can only assist families who are unable to obtain sufficient credit elsewhere at reasonable rates and terms to finance their actual needs.

The local county office of the Farmers Home Administration is located in the Post Office Building, Corry.

GM Reluctant to Help Development of Minicar

BY JACK MILLER
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — General Motors Corp., showed deep reluctance before it agreed to help in a government-backed project to develop a new little car for city use, the project director said yesterday.

And after research is completed next June on the gas-line-electric minicar, General Motors probably will try to delay its production, said Dr. Manfred Altman.

The concept of the car, half the length of normal-sized American cars and one-tenth as much a polluter of city air, was announced Tuesday by officials of the Department of Housing and Urban Development.

Altman, a professor of mechanical engineering at the University of Pennsylvania, said in an interview that General Motors probably will try to delay production by holding back a decision on whether it should produce the car.

He explained that no other firm would want to plan production of the car if it knew General Motors was going to do so. Project officials talked General Motors into helping with the minicar concept, Altman said, by convincing the firm that "a company like General Motors can't afford not to know what's happening in this field."

Altman said the potential market for such a car remains a big question mark which won't be answered until it is tried. But he said there are strong indications that minicars will come into wide use because of their great potential for reducing the critical problems of city congestion and need for space.

Altman said "I could care less whether General Motors decides to build the car or not—just so they make a decision."

The most immediate reason for the company's reluctance to build the car, Altman said, is that "it will involve building a few hundred thousand cars at the start and General Motors is interested in building millions" of cars.

The remaining part of the $300,000 study sponsored by the government will deal with ways the little cars might be used. Altman said one possibility is that people would lease the cars on a single-trip basis.

He estimates that leasing could reduce the cost of using a car to half the cost of owning one.

"Few people realize it, but it costs about $1,000 a year to own a car," Altman said. "And if a guy can lease for half that cost, he'll do it."

Percy Says He Needs Extra Money

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Charles H. Percy, R-Ill., says he needs $100,000 a year outside help to do his job as senator. But his colleague, Sen. Everett M. Dirksen, R-Ill., says he gets along within his own income.

Asserting that he had spent $70,000 out of his own pocket this year, Percy characterized as "a thoughtful gesture" a fund-raising effort undertaken by Thomas J. Houser, Chicago lawyer. It is aimed at defraying expenses of Percy's Washington office staff, plus offices in Chicago and California, Ill.

Dirksen, the Senate Republican leader, declined in an interview Wednesday to comment on the fund being raised for Percy. "That's none of my business," he said.

Dirksen has declined to say what his income is, declaring that he wasn't elected senator to become a second-class citizen forced to disclose his earnings. Besides his Senate salary of $30,000, the minority leader has income from recordings, television appearances and is starting a weekly newspaper column in January.

Dirksen also has been the beneficiary of fund-raising dinners, the proceeds of which he has said are used strictly for political campaign purposes. He is expected to seek reelection next year.

Percy, a successful business man before he turned to politics, is generally rated as a millionaire.

Percy denied that the fund-raising effort in his behalf would skimp other Republican officeholders or candidates in Illinois—presumably including Dirksen. He said that before his friends embarked on the campaign for donations, they check with all of the regular party finance groups.

Sugar Grove Library News

The Santa Claus suit, purchased by the American Legion Auxiliary for use by the people of Sugar Grove, is at the library. Any person or organization wishing to borrow the suit may contact the librarian, Miss Carrielle Swanson, either at the library or at her home to have it reserved for the date it is wanted. Rules for using the suit are similar to borrowing a book; rules are on the suit box.

The librarian is happy to announce that records may now be borrowed at the Sugar Grove Library. Each group of records will be rotated every three months.

Patrons requesting books through inter-loan must get their requests in ahead of the time they need them for references for term papers, as, due to the large number taking advantage of this service and the large area being served, the books needed may be out and unavailable for several days or weeks. The borrower should know the title and author requested; the librarians are busy people and haven't the time to search for books pertaining to a given topic.

Dispute over Taking of Land For Rt. 6 Bypass Continues

A dispute between Oscar Hogsett Associates of Youngsville and the State Highway Department was aired for the second time yesterday afternoon in regard to the taking of land for construction of the Youngsville Route 6-bypass and lands leased from the Rouse Estate by Hogsett, an independent oil producer.

Counsel for Hogsett charged that no declaration of taking had been filed by the Commonwealth nor any filing of estimate for just compensation, even though at a conference August 8 between the state officials and the oil producer indicated the former intended to follow the dictates of the Eminent Domain Code.

Hogsett's counsel told the court that despite the fact two and a half months had passed, the Commonwealth had taken no action on the required filing. Hogsett (the condemnee), through his attorney asked that the court appoint an impartial and qualified appraiser to determine the amount of just compensation.

Counsel for the Commonwealth told Judge Alexander C. Flick Jr., that the declaration of taking had been filed yesterday with assurances from the district highway office in Franklin that the filing of just compensation was being prepared and should be accomplished within two or three weeks.

The jurist noted there was no excuse at all for not filing the declaration of taking until yesterday but gave the Commonwealth 20 days to file just compensation before appointing an impartial appraiser in the matter.

It was pointed out that some of the delay resulted since the August conference due to disagreements about agreements and that relocation of Hogsett's gas lines created problems. Judge Flick stated it appeared the highway department had apparently attempted negotiations.

In a contract with the Commissioners of the Rouse Estate, Hogsett was permitted to drill oil wells on Rouse land, a portion of which falls within the path of the Youngsville by-pass, now under construction as well as a proposed access road and service road. A percentage of the oil producer's profits was returned to the Rouse general fund.

Hogsett's attorney claimed his client had been denied his rights under the eminent domain code.

Investing Is Topic of New JCC Program

A three-part seminar series in basic investing will begin Thursday, November 30 at Jamestown Community College. It was announced yesterday by Robert J. Pasciullo, director of JCC's continuing education division.

Entitled "How to Invest," the seminar series will continue on Thursday evenings through December 14 from 7:30 to 9:30 p.m. at the Science and Engineering Building, 1093 E. Second.

Cost for the course registration is $5. Registrations are now being accepted at the College Center.

Two Warren Girls Appear in Musical

By HARRY SMITH

It should have been expected that sooner or later rock'n-roll music would be making New York City's musical-theater scene.

Well, it has—and two actresses from Warren have followed it in, in "Hair," an American "tribal love rock" musical.

They are Sally Eaton, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. Pierson Eaton, 216 Jefferson ave., and Jill O'Hara, daughter of Mrs. Edith O'Hara, 7 Second ave.

Both have received mention in national newspapers' theater reviews for their roles as hippies in what is considered "the first real hippie show."

The show opened off Broadway several weeks ago at the New York Shakespeare Festival Public Theatre, 425 Lafayette st., N.Y., and has been reviewed by popular magazines and the major New York press.

Newsweek calls it the "Most delightful showcase in New York." The London Times loved it, and it's possible that the show may move to London.

Jill O'Hara has the female lead in the play as Sheila, the girl friend of Walker Daniels, who plays the "unfortunate draftee."

About Jill, New Yorker said, "Jill O'Hara makes an appealing heroine and sings very well." Clive Barnes, New York Times critic said, "Jill O'Hara has a straggly, struggling charm that is very appealing."

The London Times said, "Jill O'Hara has a face that probably isn't pretty, but possibly beautiful."

Several publications noticed both actresses in their reviews. Howard Taubman of Newsweek said: "Jill O'Hara, Sally Eaton, Shelley Plimpton, Walter Daniels, and Jerome Ragni are among the members of an attractive ensemble that reminds one of the spirited young players of the 20's."

For Sally Eaton it is her theatrical debut. Jill O'Hara has been in several off-Broadway productions and one Broadway play, "Royal Flush," that closed before it opened. The only description of Sally's role was in a New Yorker article which said she was among "an assortment of cronies."

An album has been made from the musical: "Hair" RCA Victor loc 1143, iso 1143. Several of the songs are sung solo by Jill, including "Good Morning, Starshine," mentioned in a recent New York Times article, "Rock Goes the Musical Theater." Music is by Galt McDermot; lyrics by Gerome Ragni and James Rado.

"Hair" is a musical comedy about life among the hippies in New York City, and Times critic Walter Kerr says, "In any event if you are seriously interested in getting a whiff of what the hippies of the world can't be serious about, I'd do my research at 'Hair,' not up in the Forties."

KILLS BIG BRUIN

Norman (Nummy) Yeagle of 3020 Pennsylvania ave. W. ext., owner and operator of "Animal Paradise" located west of Starbuck on Route 6, killed this prize bruin Nov. 22 at Grunder Run. The actual recorded weight of the bear was 350 pounds. (Photo by William Collins.)

New Book Store Opens in Warren

By BETTY RICE

Emily Dickinson's poems included this bit of verse: "He ate and drank the precious words. His spirit grew robust; He knew no more that he was poor. Nor that his frame was dust. He danced along the dingy days. And this bequest of wings—Was but a book. What liberty a loosened spirit brings."

Those who enjoy the wonderful world of books will find real pleasure in a visit to Warren's new book store, opened on November 13 by Chase Putnam and his wife, Mary, of 108 Woods rd., North Warren.

Located at 309 Pennsylvania ave. E., the shop and its shelves of books offer an outstanding selection of reading material. As to the location, Chase's father, Harold Putnam, well known local historian, said he possesses a picture of the store as it looked when the street was mud and street car tracks ran in front.

Book lovers, making purchases for their own libraries or preferring books as Christmas gifts, will delight in what Putnam's Book Shop has to offer.

There are books covering every field—biography, travel, political science, games, sports, humor, current fiction and non-fiction and latest best sellers.

There are books on literature, history, poetry, antiques, music, cooking, crafts and reference; books on photography and a modern library; books for children all ages and books for the family. A visit to A.A. Milne's "Pooh Corner" is also a must.

One's spirits are immediately lifted upon entering the Book Shop. Blue walls and accents of scarlet corduroy create a light, bright atmosphere while two white wicker rockers upholstered in red invite patrons to take their time and make selections in solid comfort.

The owner's office is located at the rear of the store and attractive window displays lure passersby to drop in and browse to their heart's content.

Putnam said he was thus far very pleased with Warren's response to the new facility and added he had been having especially good luck with special orders.

The store also offers a variety of attractive greeting cards.

Book prices vary, with excellent reading material available in paper backs as well as the handsome hard-cover books. Whatever the subject, there's just the right book to suit individual tastes.

WARREN GIRL STARS

Here's what "Women's Wear Daily" had to say about a Warren girl, Jill O'Hara, starring in a New York production: "Shakespeare Isn't": The first production at the New York Shakespeare Festival's new public theatre is an opus called 'Hair' and it's noisier than a New York City garbage truck on an empty street at dawn. In the middle of all the noise, Jill O'Hara is an oasis of quiet. If 'Hair' has a heroine, Jill is it but it really isn't that kind of play. It is about hippies. In her four years in New York, the 20-year-old actress from Warren, Pa., has been in several off-Broadway productions and one Broadway play, 'Royal Flush,' that closed before it opened. The success of 'Hair' was a happy surprise. 'Things are happening very fast now' says Jill. She has a nameless four-piece band and is working at getting an album together. 'I don't think of myself as mainly an actress or mainly a singer—I love to do both.' She does both in 'Hair'—dressed in faded pants and a West Point cadet's jacket. 'The noise of the play doesn't bother me—but the action does. I'm at the bottom of the heap in the war scene and I know I'll never lose the bruises.'

BROWSERS' HAVEN

When contemplating the purchase of a book for personal use or as an ideal Christmas gift, patrons at Putnam's Book Shop at 309 Pennsylvania ave., E., are invited to take all the time in the world to make up their minds—and in solid comfort too. This lounge area provides an inviting spot for arriving at a decision. (Photo by Mansfield)

SHOP OFFERS A WIDE SELECTION

Chase Putnam is pictured in his treasure land of fine books. The new shop at 309 Pennsylvania ave. E., which opened Nov. 13, offers an outstanding and complete selection of just about any type of book imaginable. Center tables are covered with red corduroy to provide an attractive display, while interior walls are a restful blue. Chase and his wife, Mary, are already enjoying a fine response from the Warren area. (Photo by Mansfield)

DID YOU KNOW THAT WOMEN STOCKBROKERS are growing more common? They now total 2,432 — up from 1,876 just two years ago — so, says the Wall Street Journal. The success or failure of the ladies in this traditionally man's field (from the brokerage point of view) depends entirely on the initiative, intelligence and personalities of the women who seek this hard road to glory, self-satisfaction and financial success. In other words, it depends on the answer to the question "Is she a good broker?" One woman broker observed that a new investor might find it easier to admit his lack of knowledge in the mechanics of the stock market to a woman rather than a man; and another noted that women brokers are treated more considerably than their male counterparts when advice goes wrong. A question unasked and so unanswered remains — Does it take women longer to inspire complete confidence on the part of prospective investors? I rather think so.

MUSIC, MUSIC, MUSIC was the theme of the program given at the Blue Stocking Club recently by Mrs. John Lange. The hostess for the afternoon was Mrs. Steve Tritt who entertained in her home, assisted by Mrs. Ralph Sires, associate hostess. The brief business meeting was conducted by Mrs. Norman Johnson, vice president. Mrs. Arlyn Dunham and Mrs. Earl Christensen presided at the beautifully appointed tea table afterwards. The next meeting of the Blue Stocking members will be the annual Christmas Party for which Mrs. Vance Weld will entertain in her home on December 19th. Members are asked to make special note of the change in date.

MINIATURES: Warren Council No. 563, United Commercial Travelers, will hold its monthly meeting this Saturday, December 2nd, in the hospitality room of the Northwest Savings and Loan Building. After the meeting a lunch will be served. Warren Council of Church Women will meet at 1:30 tomorrow in Grace Methodist Church. A Christmas concert will be given by the A Cappella Choir of Warren Area High School. All women of the community are invited.

Tonight the Clarendon VFW Auxiliary will have a 6 o'clock dinner in the clubroom. Each member may invite a guest, bring a turkey and a $1 gift exchange for ladies, and a 50-cent "fun" gift for men. Mrs. Pat Valone is chairman of the affair. The Glade Township Firemen's Auxiliary is having its Christmas dinner at the Mineral Well on Monday, Dec. 11th, at 6:30. For reservations call Mrs. Raymond B. Garner at 723-2295 before Tuesday, December 5th. There will also be a $1 gift exchange.

Lady Warren Rebekahs will have a turkey dinner this Friday evening at 6 in the Lodge; the regular meeting will follow. Final plans are to be made for the Christmas party on December 15th.

Pamela Weston Myers Bride
Of James Courtney Blackman

The marriage of Miss Pamela Weston Myers, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Stuart J. Myers of Warren, to James Courtney Blackman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Sidney W. Blackman also of Warren, took place at seven p.m. on Saturday, November 25, at the home of the bride's parents on Market Street.

The Rev. J. Robert Bath of the Unitarian Church in Dunkirk, New York performed the double ring, candlelight ceremony in front of the living room fireplace under a large hanging floral ball of white Fuji and snowdrift mums, ferns and spring-eri. On either side of the rhododendron banked fireplace were tall candelabra covered in smilax and white mums.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of white Alencon lace re-embroidered in iridescent shades with a high neckline, short sleeves and a full chapel train. Her floor length veil, attached to a matching iridescent lace bow, was of ivory silk illusion and she carried a bouquet of stephanotis and mid-century lilies.

Mrs. James Stewart Beckley Jr. of Secane, Pennsylvania was her sister's matron of honor while the Misses Sandra and Sharon Myers, also sisters of the bride, served as bridesmaids along with Miss Jeanne Baker, Miss Mary Jane Miller, Miss Marjorie Mitcham and Miss Julie Wendell, all of Warren, and Miss Susan Friend of Gloucester, Virginia.

The bridegroom graduated from the Peddie School in Hightstown, New Jersey and attended Rollins College in Winter Park, Florida for two years.

The bride, an alumna of Warren Area High School, attended Endicott Junior College in Beverly, Massachusetts before transferring to Ithaca College.

New World Of Beauty
In Women's Cosmetics

By Mary Ann Crenshaw
1967 N. Y. Times News Service
New York, Nov. 26 — There's a see-through world of beauty ahead.

The newest cosmetics coming into focus are the transparencies — totally transparent tints of color, often in gel form, that are designed specifically to let a woman's skin show through. They represent the first major change in makeup in more than a decade.

Since the early 1950's, when films like "Bitter Rice" appeared and earthy Italian actresses forsook make-up in favor of a bare-faced look, "natural" has been the word most employed in the cosmetics business.

But "the Italian look," with the mouth bereft of lipstick and the eyes lush-lashed and black-rimmed, was not suitable for any woman out of her teens! Now, according to those who make the make-ups, even young women are yearning for a change and are experimenting with rosier mouths, softer eyes.

Almost all the experts agree, however, that the change toward more color must come in a new way, with no backward glance at the blood-red lips and cake make-up of other eras.

Leonard A. Lauder, executive vice president of Estee Lauder, Inc., sees the face-in-the-future as that of a girl at the turn of the century who stained her lips with cherry juice and pinched her cheeks for color — a totally natural beauty, with no trace of artifice.

Lauder is convinced that gels will be making the news in make-up for the next five years. His company has just produced a collection of face tints called "Go Bronze."

In gel form, the tints disappear into the skin before transferring to Ithaca College.

Among the out of town guests present for the occasion were the bridegroom's sisters Mrs. William Beeton and children of Toronto, Ontario and Mrs. Edward L. Smithwick Jr., of Indianapolis, Indiana as well as the bride's grandparents Mr. and Mrs. Leon B. Dunham of Lake Wales, Florida.

Other out of town guests were from Mountside, New Jersey; Irving, Massachusetts; New York City, Detroit, Michigan; Erie, Pa.; and Pittsburgh, St. Marys, Titusville, Corry and Chautauque.

The Halls Of Ivy

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Leathers, Warren State Hospital grounds, have three children in college this year.

Robert Leathers, a Freshman at the Pennsylvania State University main campus, majoring in Electrical Engineering; Tom Leathers, Sophomore at Case Western Reserve, majoring in Chemical Engineering; and, Martha Leathers, Junior at Kent State University, majoring in Medical Technology.

Tom was recently selected as a President's Scholar, an honor bestowed upon only about 6 per cent of the student body.

Dennis Papalia, son of Mr. and Mrs. Carl F. Papalia of 15 Hill street is now doing his student teaching in Trigonometry.

Arden intends to have them on the market by early spring. Germaine Montell is another of the many cosmetics concerns that feel that the future of make-up comes in a tube of gel.

Montell is making plans to market a tinted weightless gel tentatively named "Super-Gel."

As for the future, Montell envisions the day when a woman can carry her "face" about in just three little gel tubes — one for her skin, one for her eyes, and one for her lips. A lot of women will shout "hurrah!"

HOLIDAY ICE CREAM PIE

This Cereal Ice Cream Pie offers a refreshing conclusion to a full course holiday dinner. A sprinkling of mixed candied fruits on top gives it a Christmasy appearance. For adults, there is a warm butter rum sauce to spoon on each slice. The ice cream may be spooned into the chilled cereal marshmallow shell and kept in the freezer three weeks ahead of time; just be sure to add freshly cut candied fruit and make the sauce on the day it is to be served.

Recipe For Cereal Ice Cream Pie

2 tablespoons butter or margarine
2 cups miniature marshmallows

1/4 teaspoon salt
2 cups presweetened oven-toasted rice cereal or 3 cups presweetened corn flakes
3 pints vanilla, egg nog, or butter pecan ice cream
1/2 cup finely chopped mixed candied fruits

Butter Rum Sauce
1 1/2 tablespoons cornstarch
1/3 cup brown sugar, packed
1/3 cup granulated sugar
2/3 cup water
1 tablespoon butter or margarine
1 teaspoon vanilla
1 teaspoon rum or 1 teaspoon rum extract

Prepare pie. Combine butter, marshmallows, and salt in large saucepan. Place over low heat and allow marshmallows to melt, stirring constantly. Pour over cereal; mix carefully until cereal is evenly coated. Press mixture evenly over bottom and up sides of a buttered 9-inch pie shell, shaping a high standing rim around edge. Set crust in freezer to chill thoroughly. Spoon ice cream into pie shell and return to freezer until serving time. Just before serving, sprinkle fruit over pie; cut in serving portions.

Prepare Sauce. Combine cornstarch and sugars in saucepan. Stir in water. Cook slowly over moderate heat until clear and thickened, stirring constantly. Remove from heat. Add butter and vanilla; stir until smooth. Cool, stirring frequently. Stir rum into sauce and serve on pie. Yield: 6 to 8 servings.

Ann Landers

Answers Your Problems

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Your column urging people not to take dogs on shopping trips where they are left cooped up in locked cars prompted me to write a letter that might save a life.

This past summer a Minneapolis man went to visit his wife who was in the hospital. He brought their infant son along. The hospital authorities would not allow him to bring the baby into the hospital because of the rules. He took the child back to the car and locked him in. When he returned, he found to his horror that the child had died of suffocation.

Please inform your readers that they should never, repeat, NEVER lock children in a car. Either take the kids shopping or leave them at home.—MINNESOTAN

DEAR MIN: I was appalled to receive nearly 50 letters from all over the country reporting on children who were burned or suffocated after having been left in locked cars. I had no idea of the immensity of this problem. Thank you all for writing. You got the word to over 50 million people today.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Please don't throw this in the wastebasket because it sounds like a foolish problem. I KNOW it's foolish, that's why I'm writing to you. I can't talk about it to anyone.

I'm a girl 18 who doesn't have one friend I consider worthwhile. I realize nobody is perfect, but I seem to pick apart every person I spend more than 20 minutes with. This one is loud, that one is dumb, the next one is a hypocrite and the one after that is a bore.

Please don't say I need new friends. The problem is not them, it's ME. Why do I magnify other people's imperfections until they look so unattractive that I don't want to have anything to do with them?

Please help me if you can. Or am I—HOPELESS IN CIN. CINNATI

DEAR CIN: Your statement, "The problem is not with them, it's with me," indicates you are far from hopeless—recognizing a problem is the first step toward solving it.

Chronic faultfinders are in reality dissatisfied with themselves. The person who is confident and secure does not demand perfection in his friends. He is content to take them as they are.

Get busy and work at being the kind of person you would like to be and you will be less critical of others. A wise philosopher once said, "A great deal of what we see in others is the reflection of what we are."

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Your reply to the exhausted bag boy whose lady customers couldn't remember where they had parked their cars didn't make much sense to your faithful readers who live in Davenport, Iowa.

You suggested that the supermarkets letter the posts to make it easier for people to find their cars. Well, we did that long ago, but it hasn't helped. Not only do the ladies forget which letter they parked by, they also forget to tell us they knocked down the post so we can replace it. So, keep trying, Ann, you may get it on the second try.—IOWA READER

DEAR IOWA: Have you considered metal posts with the letters printed on a plate atop the pole? Some of the ladies might have to replace a few headlights and fenders, but after awhile they'll remember the posts are there and your problem will be solved.

"The Bride's Guide," Ann Landers' booklet, answers some of the most frequently asked questions about weddings. To receive your copy of this comprehensive guide, write to Ann Landers, in care of this newspaper, enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 35 cents in coin.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

West	Pass	1♣	1♠
2♥	3♠	4♠	4♠
5♥	Pass	Pass	5♠
Dble.	Pass	Pass	Pass

Opening lead. Seven of ♠.

The above hand provoked considerable discussion when it was dealt in an international championship a few seasons back.

East opened the bidding with one heart in third seat, choosing to treat his hearts and clubs as if they were the same length. On a holding of moderate strength, he reasoned that it would facilitate the showing of both suits to bid hearts first.

South overcalled with one spade. West raised his partner to two hearts and North jumped to three spades. East now showed his second suit by bidding four clubs and South persisted to four spades. West competed with five hearts and had the opposition stopped to double, they could have collected an 1,100 point toll by launching a cross-ruff in diamonds and clubs.

South chose to carry on to five spades, however, and West doubled.

Had West opened a heart the defense would have cashed out two tricks in that suit to complete their book, with the ace of spades still to be scored. West chose to lead from his shorter holding, however, and declarer was given a little breathing room.

South won the opening club lead in dummy with the ace and promptly put the jack of diamonds thru. East was under pressure and tho it seemed advisable to make a fast decision to avoid giving away his holding, and he chose to play the five of diamonds.

Declarer let the jack ride, and when it held the trick, he ruffed himself in with a club and cashed the ace of diamonds, discarding a heart from dummy. A diamond was ruffed feeling East's king and then a club was trumped, so that South could cash the now established queen of diamonds and discard a second heart from North's hand.

East was obliged to ruff the queen of diamonds with the lone ace of spades and after he cashed the ace of hearts, the defense was thru. South trumped the club return with the king of spades and after drawing the remaining trumps, the dummy was high.

Your Horoscope

By Frances Drake

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars, FOR THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 30, 1967.

ARIES (March 21 to April 20) — Don't be suspect, be the opposite. Hold your forces in complete check. You should like sports, travel (especially with your family), and herald good news. This is the Sign of the heroes.

TAURUS (April 21 to May 21) — Transportation; and easy on the rich diet. Sometimes you feel the greatest ever, again you are the underdog. Your targets should be high ambition and also easing off in effort.

GEMINI (May 22 to June 21) — Effective speaking, demonstration and jet propulsion are your keywords. Lay off if the pace is too rapid. Spend free time really having free time. The library is for you.

CANCER (June 22 to July 23) — Don't fall for gimmicks and misinterpretations; you can have all the real things if you seek them. Is it a victory or stalemate — it's up to you. Collect the good things. Remain heady.

LEO (July 24 to August 23) — Assemblies, bulletins, travel are right in your bullwhisk. Bonuses are not free — unless you work for them. How to do, and how to make are important. So are systems. Protect your private interests.

VIRGO (August 24 to September 23) — Style and prestige aren't everything, as we've said before, but courtesies are. Spicy tones, beautiful fabrics and fashions please you. Are you in the picture? You don't need a million to feel like a millionaire.

LIBRA (September 24 to October 23) — Condition yourself, even though you think you are in good shape. Wise business investments can be launched by you. No matter which way you look there is good or bad to see.

How to Keep Well

By Dr. T. R. Van Dellen

To the limit of space, questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is inclosed. Telephone inquiries not accepted. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual diseases.

IMPROVED ACNE REMEDIES
New acne remedies are aimed at correcting inflammation and overactivity of sweat and oil-producing glands. One such product contains hydrocortisone to lessen inflammation, an antibiotic to kill germs, and an antiperspirant to lessen the oil and sweat. Sulfur, a common ingredient of most acne lotions, also is included because it removes dead skin cells that tend to clog the pores.

According to New York dermatologist, Doctor Irwin I. Lubowe, skin lesions cleared rapidly in 85 per cent of 92 victims after this formula was applied. The group also used a detergent soap which foamed well and acted as a pleasant cleansing agent.

The cause of acne is not known. In the past, the adolescent awakening of sex glands along with overactive oil and sweat glands were suspect. Blackheads and pimples developed in the greasy epidermis. Bacteria are common residents of the skin but under these circumstances they multiply. Certain foods play a role in some persons, but less often than we have been led to believe.

It is Dr. Lubowe's opinion that papules and pustules are related to some irritation or allergic reaction to the fatty acids in the skin oils. These theoretical considerations deal with the details of what makes SCORPIO (October 24 to November 23) — Attend the conferences you should. There will be some sinking feelings and many buoyed up ones. Solid stability is your way. This Sign produces judges, hard workers and business experts.

SAGITTARIUS (November 23 to December 21) — Don't wear your heart on your sleeve. Move to end useless activities. Take your lifemate into confidence with you. Many credits and awards coming up soon. There must be some authority or there will be chaos.

CAPRICORN (December 22 to January 20) — You like information, and pleasures. Deal in them moderately. It's so easy to keep accounts, so why be dilatory. There are comfort and regulation both coming up. Quiet is resting.

AQUARIUS (January 21 to February 19) — Dreaming isn't accomplishing. Excellence is yours in deep quality, if you are smooth and efficient. Creativeness and including the new and improving old go along here. Give them a trial.

PISCES (February 20 to March 20) — It is either false or it is true, and it is up to you. The inexpensive can be a pleasure. Don't take a "bargain" because it is advertised. Continuous effort is the thing.

YOU BORN TODAY: You guarantee a championship performance. You relieve others' pain, often at the cost of yours. You can become topnotch scientists, collectors of antiques and you don't like to repeat yourself. You defeat your critics in a shrewd way. Self-confidence and embarrassing situations both reckon with you. You can become a band-craftsman, a doodler or a board-chairman as you wish. Your passport to success is not dreaming in the clouds, but down to earth standards.

By Dr. T. R. Van Dellen

the pores overactive and susceptible to infection. Many other fine acne preparations are available. Some require a prescription and others are available over the counter. Dermasol, Sulfacet-R, Acne-Cort-Dome, Fostril, Komed, and Loroxide-HC are among these. Cleanliness is most important and the detergent soaps are effective for this purpose. Deeper lesions such as skin abscesses require expert care to avoid scarring.

TOMORROW: Cataract.

Dr. Van Dellen will answer questions on medical topics if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request.

HEADACHE AND BOWEL
B. H. writes: My head aches when I'm constipated. Can you explain why?

REPLY
No direct relationship exists between the bowel and the mechanism associated with headache. On the other hand, the same factors causing constipation may also be inducing the head pain. These include fatigue, anxiety, and change in bowel habits associated with travel.

INTESTINAL GROWLS
N.W. writes: I get spells of growling stomach at the most inopportune times. Is there any simple trick to stop these noises?

REPLY
Sometimes taking a drink of water or eating a cracker or two will do the trick. Another maneuver is to drown out the intestinal symphony with constant chatter.

CANCER (June 22 to July 23) — Don't fall for gimmicks and misinterpretations; you can have all the real things if you seek them. Is it a victory or stalemate — it's up to you. Collect the good things. Remain ready.

LEO (July 24 to August 23) — Assemblies, bulletins, travel are right in your bullwhisk. Bonuses are not free — unless you work for them. How to do, and how to make are important. So are systems. Protect your private interests.

VIRGO (August 24 to September 23) — Style and prestige aren't everything, as we've said before, but courtesies are. Spicy tones, beautiful fabrics and fashions please you. Are you in the picture? You don't need a million to feel like a millionaire.

LIBRA (September 24 to October 23) — Condition yourself, even though you think you are in good shape. Wise business investments can be launched by you. No matter which way you look there is good or bad to see.

How to Keep Well

By Dr. T. R. Van Dellen

To the limit of space, questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is inclosed. Telephone inquiries not accepted. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual diseases.

IMPROVED ACNE REMEDIES

New acne remedies are aimed at correcting inflammation and overactivity of sweat and oil-producing glands. One such product contains hydrocortisone to lessen inflammation, an antibiotic to kill germs, and an antiperspirant to lessen the oil and sweat. Sulfur, a common ingredient of most acne lotions, also is included because it removes dead skin cells that tend to clog the pores.

According to New York dermatologist, Doctor Irwin I. Lubowe, skin lesions cleared rapidly in 85 per cent of 92 victims after this formula was applied. The group also used a detergent soap which foamed well and acted as a pleasant cleansing agent.

The cause of acne is not known. In the past, the adolescent awakening of sex glands along with overactive oil and sweat glands were suspect. Blackheads and pimples developed in the greasy epidermis. Bacteria are common residents of the skin but under these circumstances they multiply. Certain foods play a role in some persons, but less often than we have been led to believe.

It is Dr. Lubowe's opinion that papules and pustules are related to some irritation or allergic reaction to the fatty acids in the skin oils. These theoretical considerations deal with the details of what makes the pores overactive and susceptible to infection. Many other fine acne preparations are available. Some require a prescription and others are available over the counter. Dermasorcin, Sulfacet-R, Acne-Cort-Dome, Fostril, Komed, and Loroxide-HC are among these. Cleanliness is most important and the detergent soaps are effective for this purpose. Deeper lesions such as skin abscesses require expert care to avoid scarring.

TOMORROW: Cataract.

Dr. Van Dellen will answer questions on medical topics if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request.

HEADACHE AND BOWEL

B. H. writes: My head aches when I'm constipated. Can you explain why?

REPLY

No direct relationship exists between the bowel and the mechanism associated with headache. On the other hand, the same factors causing constipation may also be inducing the head pain. These include fatigue, anxiety, and change in bowel habits associated with travel.

INTESTINAL GROWLS

N.W. writes: I get spells of growling stomach at the most inopportune times. Is there any simple trick to stop these noises?

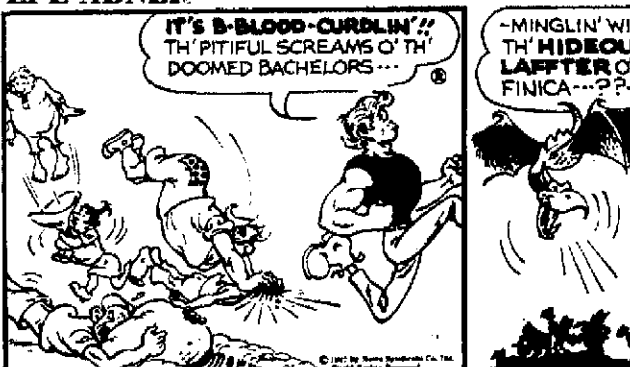

REPLY

Sometimes taking a drink of water or eating a cracker or two will do the trick. Another maneuver is to drown out the intestinal symphony with constant chatter.

"DENNIS! I FOUND A PONY!"

Thursday's TV Highlights

PERRY COMO HOLIDAY SPECIAL at 7:30 p. m. on Chs. 2, 6, and 12 is Perry's first special this season. His guests are the comedy team of Rowan and Martin, recording headliners Jefferson Airplane, singer Bobbie Gentry and special guest stars Sergio Mendes and Brasil '66.

BEWITCHED at 8:30 p. m. on Ch. 7 finds Samantha in the middle of a feud between Darrin and Endora in "The Solid Gold Mother-in-Law."

IRONSIDE at 8:30 p. m. on Chs. 2, 6, and 12 offers "A Very Cool Hot Car," with guest stars Bernie Hamilton, Arch Johnson and Jay C. Flippen. Ironside, helping to investigate the strange rise in auto thefts, finds the explanation involves a wealthy "hippie" brother and sister.

CBS THURSDAY NIGHT MOVIE at 9 p. m. on Chs. 4, 35, and 10 screens "The Money Trap," starring Glenn Ford, Elke Sommer, Rita Hayworth, Joseph Cotton and Ricardo Montalban. The 1965 film revolves around a law officer who is driven to crime by his wife's extravagances.

CAROL CHANNING AND 101 MEN, originally scheduled for Wednesday, Nov. 16, has now been rescheduled for this evening at 9 o'clock on Ch. 7.

DEAN MARTIN SHOW at 10 p. m. on Chs. 2, 6, and 12

THE EARTH'S PHASES

This five picture sequence of the earth was taken by the ATS-1 satellite from a point 22,000 miles above South America. That sequence in space, as well as portions of North America, Africa, Europe and Greenland. Antarctica is covered by clouds. The times shown are in local time below the satellite (near mouth of the Amazon River) and are 1.5 hours earlier than Eastern Standard Time. The 7:50 a.m. photo shows storms off the coast of Africa; at 10:00 a.m., the Atlas Mountains emerged; at noon the whole earth disk was seen; the 3:50 p.m. photo showed storms over the northeastern U.S. and the Pacific; and the final picture showed the storms dissipating.

Roundup of Best Non-Fiction Books

By ELLIOT FREMONT-SMITH
(c) N. Y. Times News Service
New York—Following is a list of non-fiction books, published so far in 1967, that this reviewer has thought outstanding and worth keeping in mind for Christmas giving.

Many omissions will be noted. For instance, William Manchester's "The Death of a President" and Svetlana Alliluyeva's "Twenty Letters to a Friend" are omitted on the assumption that everyone who wants them has them, or at least knows about them. Also omitted are many books of specific political interest, picture books and what are known as "gift" books.

The following, then, may be taken as a sampling of the best in solid nonfiction, new this year, currently available and good for both giving and receiving.

The Autobiography of Bertrand Russell: 1872-1914 (Atlantic-Little, Brown, $7.95) — chatty, wide-ranging, fascinating account of the first 42 years of one of the intellectual adornments of the age.

Children of Crisis: A Study of Courage and Fear, by Robert Coles (Atlantic-Little, Brown, $4.50) — A child psychiatrist's stirring and revealing first-hand study of the effects of integration in the south on 20 individuals, black and white, pro and con.

The Chinese Looking Glass, by Brenda Woodworth (Farrar, Straus & Giroux, $6.95) — engaging, informative crazy-quilt guide to the Chinese character and 30 centuries of Chinese history.

Cities in a Race with Time: Progress and Poverty in America's Remaking Cities, by Jeanne R. Lovv (Random House, $10) — study in depth of urban problems and possible remedies in five major cities.

Disraeli, by Robert Blake (St. Martin's, $12.50) — Striding, controversial and exhaustive portrait of the spunky P.M. The Empty Fortress: Infantile Autism and the Birth of the Self, by Bruno Bettelheim (Free Press, $9.95) — Three case histories of childhood schizophrenia shed light on the concept of "self" and institutionalized dehumanization; by the author of "The Informed Heart."

Language and Silence, by George Steiner (Atheneum, $9) — Provocative essays on the relationships of language, literary culture and political terror. The Life that Late He Led: A Biography of Cole Porter, by George F. Gipe (Putnam, $6.95) — Exuberant biography of the urbane composer of "Night and Day," "Let's Do It," "Miss Otis Regrets" and other hoedolistic hits of yesteryear.

Memories, 1935-1960, by George F. Kennan (Atlantic-Little, Brown, $10) — absorbing and eloquent career autobiography of the former diplomat and Russian specialist. The Myth of the Machine: Technics and Human Development, by Lewis Mumford (Harcourt, Brace & World, $8.95) — Elegantly composed speculation on the liberation of man from his environment, from prehistoric times to the 16th century.

Nabokov: His Life in Art, by Andrew Field (Little, Brown, $8.95) — Major biographical and critical study of the writer and his art (see also below). The New Industrial State, by John Kenneth Galbraith (Houghton Mifflin, $6.95) — The Harvard Economist analyzes, with sardonic wit if not unbridled enthusiasm, the directions and motivations of American capitalism.

Pulitzer, by W. A. Swanberg (Scribner, $8.95) — Biography of Joseph Pulitzer (1847-1911), the able and cantankerous publisher of the St. Louis Post-Dispatch and the New York World.

The Soviet Union, edited by Harrison E. Salisbury (Harcourt, Brace & World, $8.95) — Informative firsthand survey, by 15 New York Times correspondents, of Soviet life, culture and politics 50 years after the Bolshevik revolution.

Speak, Memory, by Vladimir Nabokov (Putnam, $6.75) — Enormously evocative autobiography of a major writer, from childhood in imperial Russia to 1940, when he migrated to America.

Stop-Time, by Frank Conroy (Viking, $5.95) — Moving, lyrical, engrossing autobiography of a young American writer growing up in the 1940's.

Thomas Becket, by Richard Winston (Knopf, $10) — Outstanding account of the epic struggle between church and state in the England of Henry II and Becket of Canterbury.

To Move a Nation: The Politics of Foreign Policy in the Administration of John F. Kennedy, by Roger Hilsman (Doubleday, $6.95) — A former State Department official discusses the formulation and implementation of foreign policy, and the infighting that accompanies and shapes both.

Winston S. Churchill: The Young Statesman, 1901-14, by Randolph S. Churchill (Houghton Mifflin, $10) — The fascinating second volume of Churchill's impressive biography of his father.

EMERGENCY LANDING

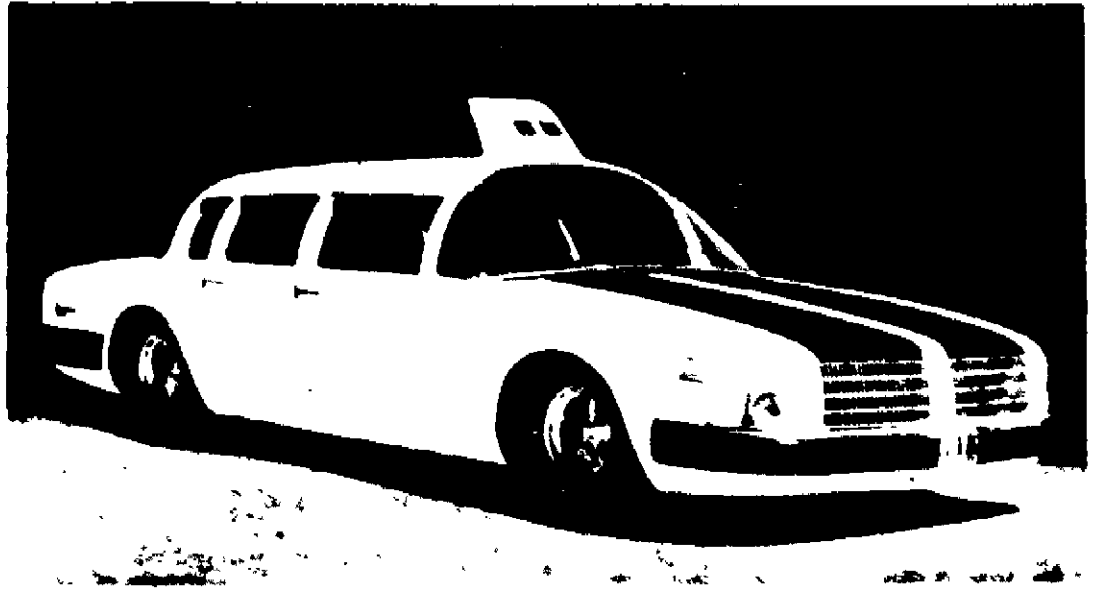

In pain after a Communist machine gun bullet ripped both his legs, and unable to land unassisted, Lt. (jg) Dennis Earl of Mendon, Utah, slashes his A4-E Skyhawk into a barricade on the deck of the USS Oriskany in the Gulf of Tonkin. Although bones in both his legs were broken, the 26-year-old pilot dropped his bombs on target before heading back to the carrier, 125 miles away.

UNVEIL SAFETY CAR

The New York State Department of Motor Vehicles unveiled Tuesday a model safety car, designed to prove that safer automobiles can be both attractive and economical. Pictured above is a two-and-a-half foot model. It was said the two-door sedan could be sold at a price comparable to the low-priced three. The car, shown in detail below, features a hydraulic front bumper which extends one foot forward as the car travels faster, curved to deflect head-on collisions; a periscope to improve rear visibility; a crash-resistant fuel system; an automatic fire extinguisher for the engine; a cushioned steering wheel; contoured seats with lateral supports and head rests; and a flip-top door with attached lateral seat support.

DEVELOP MINICAR TO CUT AIR POLLUTION

The Housing and Urban Development Department has taken the wraps off a three-seat minicar it says would cut air pollution in cities drastically. Prof. Manfred Altman (right), a mechanical engineering instructor at the University of Pennsylvania, displays a full-size mockup of the hybrid motor (foreground). The motor is a two-cylinder gas job coupled to an engine operated by an electric battery. The combustion engine charges the battery. The car can be driven by gas engine alone or by electric battery alone. In the background is a picture and a model of the minicar, which would have a range of up to 100 miles and cost an estimated $1,600.

Einstein Letters Sold at Auction

By ALVIN SHUSTER
(c) N.Y. Times News Service
LONDON — The son of the woman who put letters from Albert Einstein up for sale tried and failed yesterday to buy them at auction.

The 58-letters were written by the late physicist to Dr. Gustav Bucky, a close friend, who lived in New York. Dr. Bucky died in 1965 and the collection was put up for sale by his widow, Mrs. Frida Bucky, at Christie's yesterday.

Dr. Peter A. Bucky of New York and his wife paid a surprise visit to the auction house in the morning to bid on the letters. Sitting in the back of the small room with his agent, Dr. Bucky raised the bidding to $35,280, but then shook his head when Lew David Feldman, a New York book and manuscript dealer, went to $36,000.

Feldman, owner of the House of El Dieff, also purchased the next offering—a series of 65 letters sent by author Ernest Hemingway to Adriana Ivanich, a close friend from Venice whom many regard as the model for Renata, the young Venetian woman in Hemingway's "Across the River and Into the Trees."

Feldman, who has purchased thousands of dollars worth of manuscripts and books here in the last two weeks, paid $18,800 for the Hemingway correspondence.

The letters, written by typewriter and by hand, comprise more than 100 pages.

Christie's said the collection represented the largest group of letters by the author to appear at auction since he died in July 1961. The company did not identify the seller, but it is believed they were sold by the woman who received them.

Feldman said he had not purchased either the Einstein or the Hemingway letters for any specific clients, but would eventually resell them.

"I'm in the business to sell," he said. "If I were to keep them or anything I buy, it would be an admission of failure."

Bucky, who bid unsuccessfully today, said that his mother's decision to sell the letters was "a surprise to me." He said he tried to buy them because he was writing a book on his family's relations with Einstein.

"I have other letters from Dr. Einstein," Bucky said, "and I wanted these to help round out the book."

Bucky is president of "Bucky X-Ray International," a company founded by his father who invented a basic X-Ray technique.

The Einstein letters, written over a period of 25 years, shed no new light on the theories of the physicist, but they provide insights into his distrust of medicine and his sadness over the plight of Jews in Germany under Nazism. They also included a couple of poems written by Einstein in a light vein.

All the letters were written in German and signed "A.E."

Pa. Supreme Court Gives Libel Ruling

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—The Tuesday a weekly newspaper it printed a press release lambasting a township auditor, State Supreme Court upheld that was accused of libel after

OPEN FRIDAY NIGHTS

All Pennsylvania Gas Co. Appliance Sales Offices will be open Friday evenings from 6 - 9 p.m. for your shopping convenience from now until Christmas. Choose a modern Gas appliance for the ideal Christmas Gift.

"The person who is the target of unkind words is bound to feel hurt," the court said, "but he or she often exaggerates in his or her mind the extent of the damage done to his or her reputation in the public mind."

"The public has many things to think and talk about, and it does not linger on a debate that may occur at a township commissioners' meeting or a statement issued by commissioners in the heat of an altercation," the court said.

Phyllis T. Kernick, auditor of Penn Hills Township in suburban Pittsburgh, filed a libel suit against The Progress after a controversy whether a commissioner had tried to bribe her.

The court said Mrs. Kernick brought the subject up at a commissioners' meeting in the summer of 1966. The Allegheny County district attorney was asked to investigate and he found nothing to justify charges.

Later the three commissioners issued a statement saying Mrs. Kernick "had failed to substantiate her outrageous accusation," that her remarks had been "carefully calculated to disparage the township and its officials" and that "we hope in the future Mrs. Kernick will conduct herself in a manner befitting an elected public official."

The Progress printed the statement and Mrs. Kernick sued. The lower court sustained objections and the Supreme Court upheld the paper on appeal.

"Whatever sensation the commissioners' statement may have caused could not have endured for any appreciable period," the court said in an opinion written by Justice Michael M. Musmanno.

"If the statement of the commissioners had accused Mrs. Kornick of dishonesty or of incompetence in her work, the situation would have been different," the court said.

Cleveland Museum Is Among the Best

(c) N.Y. Times News Service NEW YORK — While New York's Metropolitan Museum of Art rides along securely as the American Louvre, it keeps an eye on the Cleveland Museum of Art, which appears to be on the way to clinching the dispute title of runner-up. An exhibition of 132 works of art acquired during 1967, opening in Cleveland yesterday, shows why.

Cleveland's major prize is its new Rembrandt, "An Old Man Praying," dated 1661, eight years before the painter's death at the age of 63. But the picture has a rival in a sculpture characterized by Sherman E. Lee, the director of the museum, as "the most important baroque ivory group known to exist."

A descent from the cross, it was commissioned by Prince Eusebius Von Liechtenstein from the sculptor Adam Lenckhardt in 1646 and was completed seven years later. The piece stands 17½ inches high and includes eight figures carved from a single piece of ivory under the terms of the contract.

Only about 10 years ago it was still possible to list Boston's museum of Fine Arts, founded in 1870, the same year as the Metropolitan, the Philadelphia Museum of Art, founded in 1875, and the Art Institute of Chicago, founded in 1879, as the three contenders for second place to the Metropolitan in the American museum category. (The National Gallery in Washington is in a special category, essentially a gallery of western painting rather than a museum covering the entire range of art.) But while Boston, Philadelphia and Chicago can point to extraordinary collections and important recent acquisitions, it is generally conceded that they cannot match the record of Cleveland—founded late, in 1913—in the combination of quantity, quality and wide range of acquisitions year after year.

THE MAILBOX: AN ART FORM

No one's written a book about them yet, but it looks as though mailboxes may be a flourishing form of art. Above, a group of boxes found in the Philadelphia area includes a milk can, tea pot, covered wagon, pump, bomb, and beer barrel. At right, Florida cattleman C. C. Land stands beside his huge mailbox, a Christmas gift he received in 1960. Handmade in Mississippi, the monster measures four by eight feet and stands 18 feet above the ground, anchored down by eight tons of cement. It cost $1,500 to make and install.

State Supreme Court Rules Sabbath Law Constitutional

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — A law requiring large food stores to close on Sundays is constitutional, the Pennsylvania Supreme Court ruled Tuesday.

With only two justices dissenting, the state's highest court affirmed Monday a ruling of the Beaver County Court of Common Pleas. Dissident judges were Herbert Cohen and Henry O'Brien.

Bertera's Hopewell Foodland, a store in Hopewell Township, Beaver County, had challenged the law, saying it was unconstitutional because it was vague and unspecified.

In the majority opinion, written by Justice Michael Musmanno, the court ruled: "The American workman is entitled to a day of rest with his family."

"While it is obvious that, because of works of necessity, charity and recreation, some persons will be required to toil on Sunday, a number so engaged must be kept at a minimum."

"That is the keystone of the Sunday closing laws as they span nearly three centuries of American life."

The law bars food stores from selling on Sundays except for those that employ less than 10 employees; those where food is sold by the owner or members of his family, and those where food is prepared on the premises for human consumption.

The Supreme Court modified the lower court ruling regarding the penalties for violating the law. The act provides a penalty of up to $100 for a first offense and a fine of up to $200 or 30 days in jail for a second offense within a year.

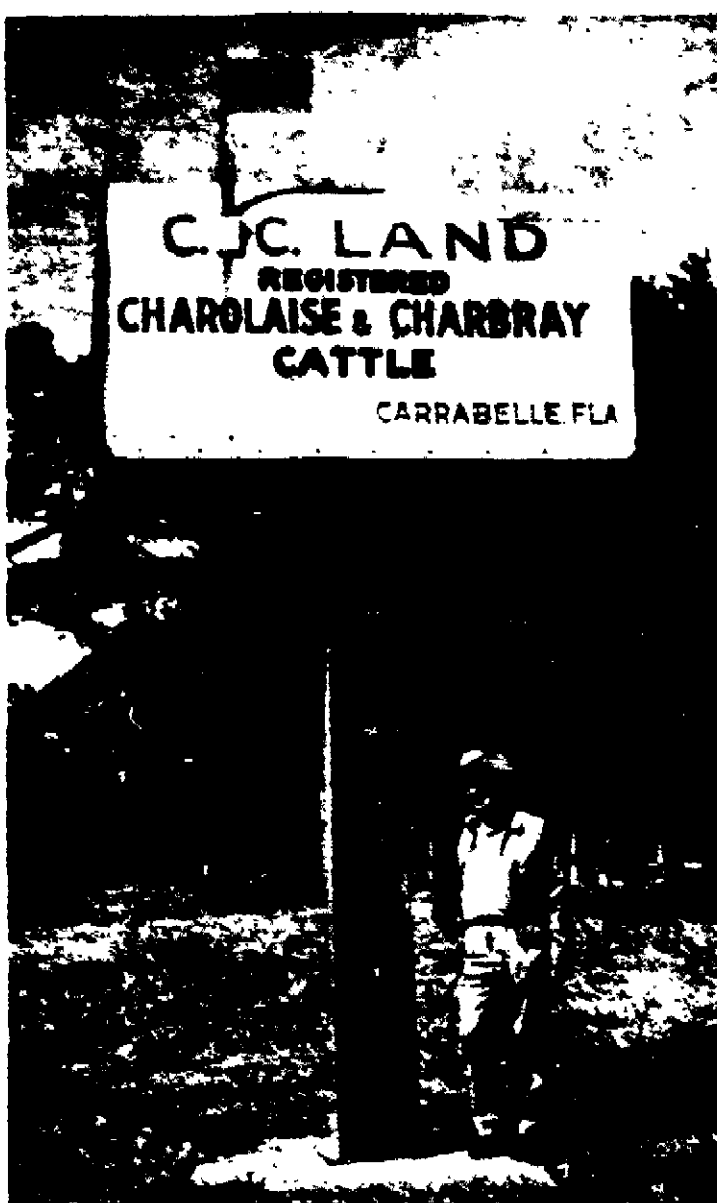

The lower court ruled that an offender who repeats an offense after a lapse of one year of his first offense shall be treated as a first offender.

But the Supreme Court disagreed. "To illustrate," the court said, "if a person is convicted of his first offense on Jan. 1, 1967, of his second offense on July 1, 1967, and his third offense on Jan. 2, 1968, he would be subjected to the increased penalty for the offense of Jan. 2, 1968, even though a year had passed since his first offense of Jan. 1, 1967."

"Every decision of the Pennsylvania courts indicates that Sunday closing laws are to be interpreted in order to avoid a weekday commercialization of the Sabbath that would lessen reverence for the Holy Day, as proclaimed in the original act of the General Assembly, the succeeding relevant acts, and all the decisions interpreting these acts," the high court said.

"If one supermarket may employ 40 persons under a loose reading of the law of 1961," the court said, "then a supermarket may employ 600, a super-super-market may employ 6000 until Sunday may become a day of paganism in violation of the intention of the founders of our nation, the architects of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, and the expression of all the jurists treating this subject."

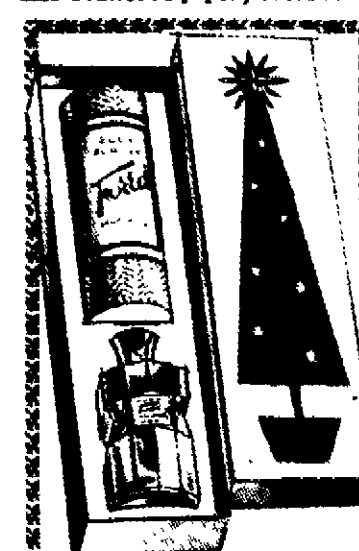

Authorities in the Pittsburgh area have been permitting stores including those of the big supermarket chains, to remain open on Sundays pending a ruling on the Bertera appeal.

Vandals Strike
SILVER CREEK, N.Y.—Police are investigating a break-in at the Silver Creek Central School that resulted in more than $2,000 damage over the weekend.

Nobody.

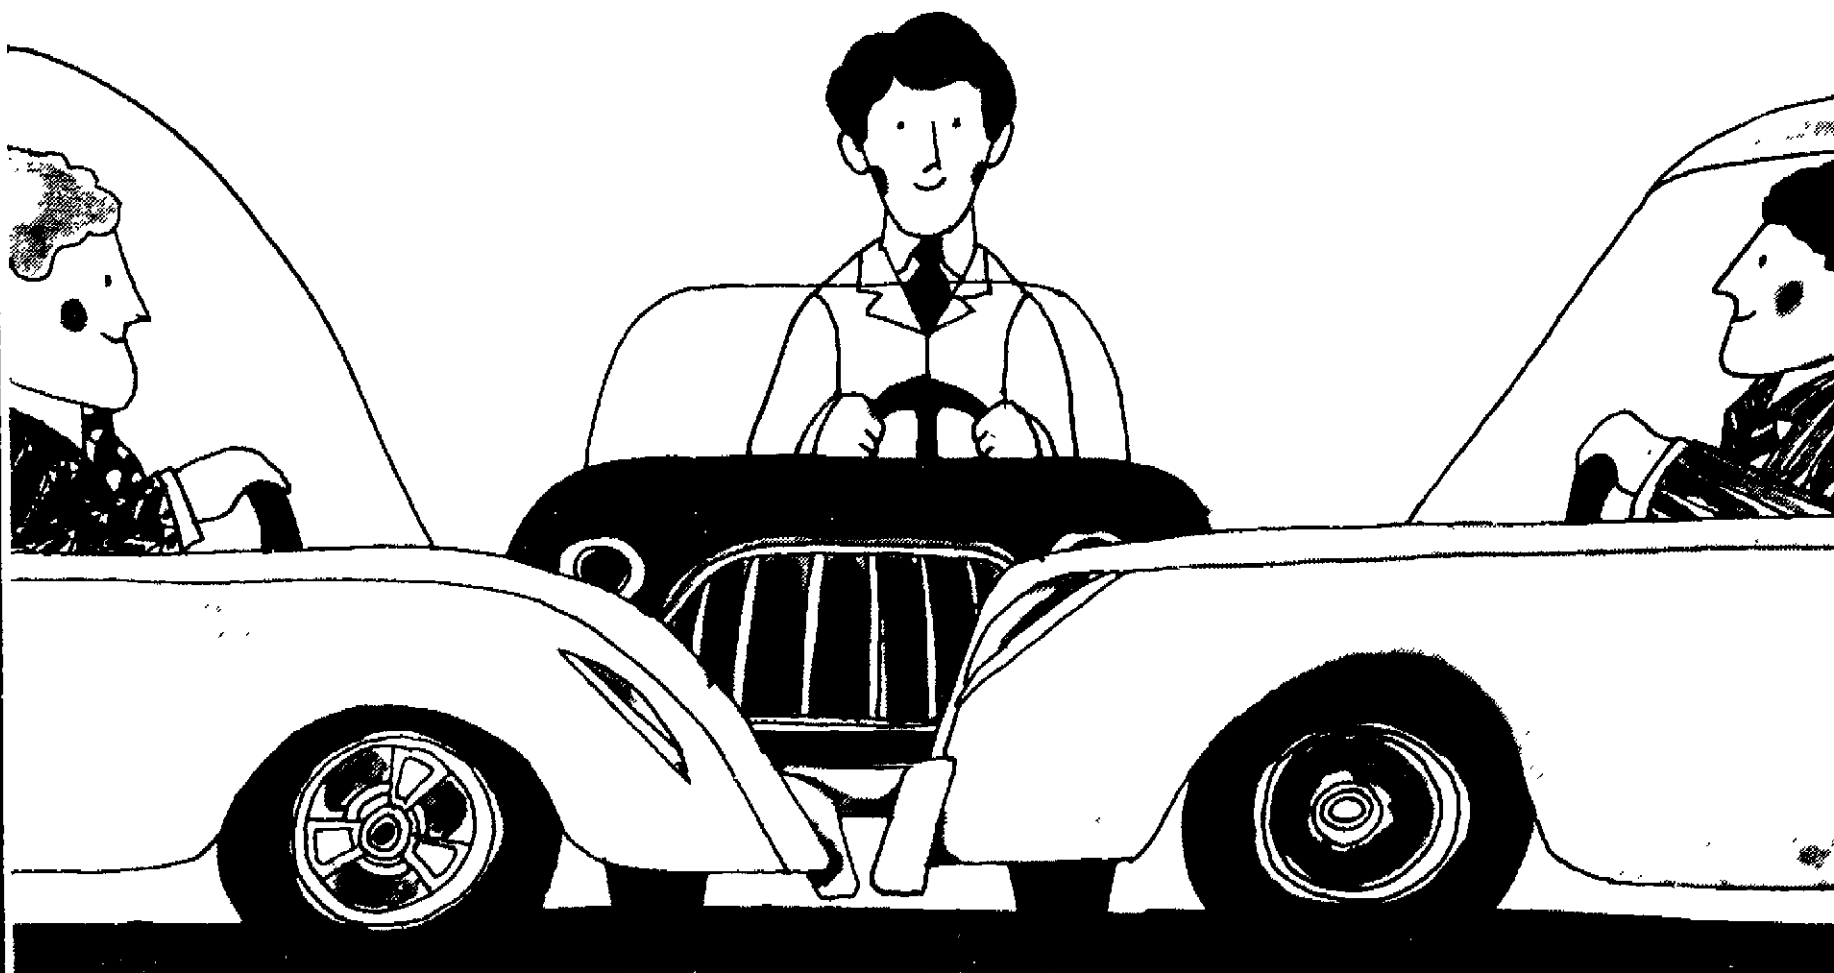

That's the law in Pennsylvania. You never have the Right of Way. The other driver must give it to you. Or you must give it to the other driver. Remember — you should:

- give Right of Way to the vehicle on your right at an intersection.
- give Right of Way to any Police, Fire Emergency or Ambulance vehicle if it sounds a siren.
- give Right of Way to any vehicle already in an intersection when you approach.

- watch for "Yield" signs that govern highway junctures and proceed with caution when the road is clear.
